GIRL WOUNDED BY BURGLARS

Today

What Will Labor Do? Women As Lawmakers. 365% A Year. $90,000,000,000 Income.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

LABOR appears to have won the British election.

British Labor is socialistic, nuch of it communistic, but of nild communism.

IMAGINE the panic in dear old Wall street and every well organized financial mind if labor and socialism controlled the government of this country.

But the British will manage. They "muddle through" because they have common sense, and British Labor has honest, intelligent leaders.

Ramsay MacDonald is as good a man as there is in Britain, although not as great or able a statesman as Lloyd George.

MILLIONS of Britishers that do not like Lady Astor's politics are glad she is re-elected.

Ten women will sit in the new House of Commons. Four are in our House of Representatives. ere ought to be at least 200.

[illegible]ON there will be a woman in [illegible] Senate. Mrs. Ruth Hanna [illegible]rmick, daughter of Mark [illegible] now in the House of [illegible]entatives, will be sent to [illegible]nate next spring by the [illegible] of Illinois. They recog[illegible] earnestness and ability, and [illegible]oud of their intelligent face.

[illegible]ST thou a man diligent [illegible] his business? He shall [illegible]fore kings." The Bible [illegible] and Wall street brokers [illegible] it.

[illegible]ial gentlemen, diligent [illegible] business have arranged [illegible] 1 per cent on a call [illegible]." That is, for tem[illegible]tification of overdraft [illegible]y.

[illegible]tle charge, dearly be[illegible] doesn't amount to a [illegible], only about $13,500 a [illegible] or $5,000,000 a year. But very little helps.

PROF. COPELAND, of Cornell, after a careful investigation, figures the income of the United States at ninety billion a year.

About a year ago Mr. Ecker gave the same figures. His work as president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company gives him accurate information.

THE important fact supplied by Mr. Ecker is that wages and salaries equal sixty billion a year.

Living expenses equal forty-five billion, leaving fifteen billion over, as a "backlog" for national prosperity, luxuries, investments, etc.

FOR those who take golf seriously and don't believe the professional who says "You look up and stop short in your swing," the latest idea is to have a slow motion moving picture made of the play in action. Try it if you can afford it. You will be surprised.

Many of us would be surprised to see a slow moving picture of our brains, if that were possible.

COL. LINDBERGH'S name will appear in the Social Register, after his wife's. Later, his name may appear first, hers following.

That means nothing to the average homesteader on the Mojave Desert. It means a good deal in New York.

IN 1928 suicide rates were the highest in 12 years, about 18 in 100,000 in 100 cities. Anxiety of one kind or another was responsible for 90 per cent of the suicides.

Stock Exchange gambling doubtless had something to do with it.

AT 10 o'clock a few gentlemen gather together in New York and announce what the call money interest rates will be for that day. Somebody in Congress should start an investigation and find out just who those gentlemen are and how they reach the conclusion that 15 per cent or 20 per cent is desirable.

Whether they were long or short. That might make a difference. It would take 20 per cent money to enable you to "get back in the market" if you sold out too soon.

THE motto of the Pacific coast seems to be: "If you haven't got a thing, get it."

The city of Stockton, the San Joaquin and Sacramento Valleys can produce enough food to feed a great part of the world.

But the place needs a harbor for ships, and will have it. Stockton, the state of California and the federal government this year will dig a deep water channel to the sea, and Stockton will have a harbor big enough to hold 90 per cent of the ships that come through the Golden Gate.

NO one knows what the future of the Pacific coast will be, or what the size of inland harbors built will be, wherever men want them.

MR. GEORGE E. MOORE, of No. 52 Vanderbilt avenue, New York City, can tell about an electric shovel that digs 15 cubic yards of earth at one bite. You can dig out another Lake Michigan with a tool like that. Given machinery PLUS POWER everything is possible.

LONDON'S stock market was weak yesterday. The wise couldn't decide whether the Labor party beating the Tories, or the doctors performing a slight operation on King George's chest caused it.

THREE HUNDRED old men of the Grand Army paraded in New York on Decoration Day. All walked; half were unable to finish the parade, which had been shortened to six blocks.

CLEAR, COOLER AFTER HEAT

Clear skies and moderately warm weather for the week-end was predicted today by Forecaster W. S. Brotzman in contrast with the unseasonable heat of the last few days.

The mercury fell to 58 degrees, early today, 11 degrees below yesterday's mark at the same hour. The coolness brought refreshing sleep to thousands.

"This afternoon the thermometer likely will rise to between .75 an 80," said Brotzman, "an ideal day for the beginning of June. Tomorrow probably will be somewhat warmer."

The body of Tony Letteire, 10, of 506 Center street, Braddock, drowned when he sought relief from the heat the night of Memorial Day in the Monongahela River, was recovered today near the West Braddock Bridge.

NEW YORK, June 1.—(AP.)—Deaths from the extreme heat which has blistered the North Atlantic states four days neared the half hundred mark today. Nineteen persons died from the heat yesterday and three were drowned.

With the temperature in the New York City area reaching a maximum of 90 degrees, the highest thus far this season, nine persons succumbed and 18 were prostrated.

Boston, one of the centers to suffer most from the torrid spell, was the first to feel relief. Five deaths occurred, however, before the heat wave broke.

One death occurred at Philadelphia, where a temperature of 90 degrees was recorded. At Gettysburg, Pa., a farm hand was killed by lightning.

WOMEN EXPOSE BALLOT BOX STUFFING

Homestead Election Officials Freed After Court Story; Senate to Get Testimony

Three women sentenced Wednesday to 30 days in jail for election frauds gave a vivid description to Judge James H. Gray in Criminal Court today of ballot box stufing and illegal voting as practiced, according to them, in the Second District of the Second Ward, Homestead, in the election of November, 1926.

In consideration of their confessions, Judge Gray remitted the remainder of their jail sentences, but continued the four-year parole and the restriction against their serving on election boards during that period.

USED AS TOOLS

Judge Gray said he had been informed that unscrupulous politicians were using women as tools to help them with election cheating, and he bade the three women before him use their influence to save other women from being thus used.

Ralph H. Frank, attorney for William B. Wilson, Democratic candidate for United States senator in 1926, said he would submit to the Senate committee investigating the election the confessions made in court today.

POLICE CAPTAIN NAMED

The three women were Mrs. Susan Uhrin, her sister-in-law, Mrs. May Forgast, and Mrs. Marie Etherington.

Mrs. Uhrin testified—and her testimony was corroborated by the other two—that "Bull" Conley, a Homestead police captain, and Joseph F. Franks, a former councilman, recently released from the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, stuffed the ballot box with numerous ballots which they had marked themselves, and also brought to the polling place scores of Negroes who voted under names that Conley and Franks assigned to them.

Christian's Death Hides $57,000 Loss

OMAHA, Neb., June 1.—(INS.)—In the belief that George R. Christian, former New York stock broker, who died here recently under an assumed name, had had $57,000 in his possession just before coming to Omaha, J. Irving Davidson, a lawyer of Trenton, N. J., was making an investigation here today.

Davidson said he personally had given Christian 57 $1,000 bills on April 22. When Christian died the money was not found.

Mrs. Roosevelt Sails To Meet Husband

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—(AP).—Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt sailed yesterday on the liner President Harrison for Hong Kong, where she plans to meet her husband, who is on a hunting trip in Indo-China. Col. Roosevelt was recently appointed governor of Porto Rico and Mrs. Roosevelt said it probably would be necessary for him to be there by September.

Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt To Get First Flight

ALBANY, N. Y., June 1.—(AP.)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the governor, is to have her first flight Tuesday. Asked to sponsor a new plane, she wrote:

"I am inclined to say no flight, no christening."

The hint was taken.

Pittsburgh Girl, Planning Wedding, Killed in Car

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 1.—(AP.)—Miss Adelaide Gibson, 22, of Pittsburgh, died yesterday of injuries suffered in an automobile accident at Glendale, a suburb, where she had gone with her fiance, Marian J. Gibson, to inspect a house in which they planned to live after their wedding June 14.

The girl backed a coupe out of a garage and over a 10-inch curbing, allowing the car to plunge 200 feet down an embankment. She was crushed under the machine.

Gibson saw the tragedy, but was helpless to give aid. The body will be shipped to Pittsburgh today.

Defendant

DAVID T. RIFFLE

TRAFFIC MELEE TOLD IN COURT

David T. Riffle, well-known contractor, of 1006 Forbes street, was in Central Police Court today, a defendant in a disorderly conduct case. It grew out of a brawl in Gibbon street Friday, which, the numerous witnesses agreed, fell little short of being a riot. A broken nose, dislocated shoulder and a knockout were high lights of the fray.

Riffle's co-dependants were:

Harold Riffle, 23, of 1442 Center street, Wilkinsburg, his son.

Joseph McCausland, Sr., and his son, Joseph, Jr., both of 6617 Rowland street.

Edward Smith, of Graham street.

DRIVERS START ROW

The trouble developed from the fact that cars were parked on both sides of Gibbon street, leaving a traffic lane wide enough for only one machine. The Riffles were driving along the street when another automobile approached from the opposite direction. In it were the McCauslands, young McCausland's wife and Smith.

McCausland, Jr., driving, stopped and beckoned to the elder Riffle to pass. There was something in the

PETTY WILL TRY TO STOP PHILS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

Those surprising Phillies from the other end of the state caused all kinds of trouble in their first appearance of the season, and nothing would please them more than to take another sock at their brother Pennsylvanians this afternoon in the Oakland Orchard.

The Quakers hung a 10 to 7 defeat on the Pirates in the opener yesterday, the setback forcing the Buccos into second place. The Cardinals humbled the poor Reds again and moved in on the Pittsburghers.

Burt Shotton's home-run stars, Klein and O'Doul, did their stuff in their first appearance here. The two sluggers unloaded two homers that represented five runs.

Manager Bush was ejected from the field in the sixth inning by Umpire Moran as a result of Bush's protest of a force play at second base. Bush objected to Moran's decision on Joe Dawson, who was called out.

Jess Petty and Ray Benge are scheduled to face each other on the mound this afternoon.

DRIVER BEATEN IN MILK WAR BY GANG

Police Seize Auto Abandoned By Five Routed With Gun After Mt. Lebanon Battle

Five men early today attacked a wagon of the Liberty Dairy Products Corporation in the 300 block of Hazel drive, Mt. Lebanon, beat the driver, Lee Collins, 27, of 912 Federal street, and escaped after, it is reported, a shot had been fired from the wagon.

Collins, who had just stepped from the wagon to make a delivery, was aided in his battle with the men by John Kessler, 42, of 340 Third avenue, a guard. It was the second attack made upon Collins since the beginning of the driver's strike.

A. W. Seifert, acting lieutenant of police, who was called by a neighbor, found an abandoned automobile half a block from where the attack occurred. All doors were open, indicating that the occupants had fled quickly. Inside, a pair of overalls with a Liberty dairy stamp on the back, were found. Police towed the car to a garage and began a search for the owner.

ACCORD NEAR, MORGAN GOES

PARIS, June 1.—(AP.)—J. P. Morgan, believing his work as American delegate to the reparations conference concluded, left here today for Cherbourg where he will board the Mauretania to America. A small party of friends, including Thomas L. Lamont, saw him off. He declined to discuss the work of the conference.

The reparations experts, determined to complete negotiations for a settlement today, made rapid progress. At noon it was learned authoritatively an agreement had been reached on every point except that of redemption of German marks left in Belgium by the armies of occupation.

It was said even that probably would be solved during the day and the final obstacles to an agreement on the ponderous problem removed.

The agreement on the German insistence that the burden of the last 22 annuities be alleviated somewhat contained the proviso, it was understood, that Germany will benefit by any reduction of war debts extended by the United States.

3 Hurt in Trolley Wreck Downtown

Three persons were injured when a West View street car split a switch and crashed into an iron pole at Duquesne way and Seventh street last night. They were Mrs. Grace Fikra, 26, of 1408 East street; Dorothy Kerr, 4, of 1410 East street, and John W. Straight, of 309 Venture street. They were treated at the Allegheny General Hospital. Traffic at the corner was blocked 20 minutes.

Wickersham 'Damp,' Dry Leader Holds

MANIAC SLAYER OF 3 KILLED BY TRAIN

Crazed War Vet Lies Down On Track to Await Death After Shooting 7 in Rage

CHICAGO, June 1.—(AP.) Ferdinand Preuss, the maniac who shot three men dead and wounded four others while in a drunken fury yesterday, was decapitated today by a Chicago and Northwestern Railroad train.

A body found on the right-of-way was identified by a fishing license issued to Preuss, and police believe the man, sobered overnight, realized the tragedy of yesterday and committed suicide.

The condition of Preuss' body indicated he had lain on the track and waited for the train to run over him, police said.

Preuss killed two policemen and a civilian yesterday and wounded two policemen and two civilians with a pump shotgun.

WAR-TRAINED GUNNER

Ferd Preuss acquired a deadly aim during the World War. He went mad late yesterday, his wife said, after a drinking debauch that began three weeks ago. As early as yesterday morning he warned neighbors to "keep your heads inside the windows if you don't want them blown off."

Police got a call that a man was quarreling with his wife and threatening to kill her. Policeman John Lee Conley's detective squad went to the North Side flat where lived Preuss and his wife. It was just one of hundreds of similar calls that are received at police stations during the year, and Policemen Conley and Herbert Hagberg, a member of his squad, walked leisurely around to the rear door—and to their death.

LONG ILLNESS FACES KING

LONDON, June 1.—(AP.)—An official announcement at noon today said that King George's condition was satisfactory but his progress would be tedious.

A bulletin issued by his physicians at Windsor said:

"His Majesty the King passed a good night. The abscess, so far, is following its normal course which in the nature of things must be tedious.

"We accordingly advise that the thanksgiving service should be deferred to a later date. As His Majesty's general condition is now satisfactory there is no necessity to issue bulletins every day.

"HENRY MARTYN,
"SIR STANLEY HEWETT,
"DAWSON OF PENN."

The thanksgiving ceremony had been set for June 16 at Westminster Abbey to allow the country to give thanks for the king's recovery from his illness last winter.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—(AP.)—Secretary Stimson of the State Department, has instructed Ray Atherton, American charge d' affaires in London, to express to the British government the hopes of the American government that the king will very soon recover from the setback.

BALDWIN 'PLOT' TO RULE SEEN

By HARRY L. FLORY,
International News Service.

LONDON, June 1.—Charges of political bargaining "to deprive labor of its heritage" threw a new issue into the political situation in England today, as growing possibility arose that Stanley Baldwin, leader of the Conservative party, might succeed in forming the next cabinet in spite of the overwhelming numerical victory scored by J. Ramsay MacDonald and the Labor party at the polls.

With conferences between principal members of the three parties scheduled for this week-end, it became almost certain that Baldwin would reform the Conservative cabinet and force the new Parliament to make a confidence vote when it assembles the first week in July.

Thus, instead of resigning immediately, it now appears Baldwin will confront the House as its prime minister, and resign only if the House votes lack of confidence in him.

Such a vote would necessitate either Liberal abstention, or a partial Liberal coalition with labor, as David Lloyd George, leader of the Liberal forces, holds balance of power owing to Labor's lack of a clear majority.

Lloyd George is facing a dilemma which will test his ability. If Baldwin forms a cabinet, he must either support the Conservatives, whom he has accused of being "enemies of peace and progress" or else coalesce with Labor to put MacDonald in office.

The latter is what Lloyd George did in 1924, and the effect upon the voting public was chiefly responsible for the Liberal debacle in the elections which followed MacDonald's removal.

With 602 out of the 615 parliamentary constituencies reported, Labor has won 287 seats, 21 less than needed for a majority; the Conservatives, 253, and Lloyd George's Liberal forces, 54.

SHOTS MISS BRENTWOOD MOTHER

Daughter Hit by 8 Bullets As Son Routs Prowlers Who Escape Into Woods

A girl was shot and her mother narrowly escaped the gunfire of three burglars who were routed in Brentwood early today.

Emma Staude, 23, of 64 Brentridge avenue, was struck eight times in the legs and in one hand with buckshot fired by one of the prowlers. The shots missed her mother, Mrs. Louis Staude, by inches.

BROTHER ROUTES THIEVES

The burglars were routed by the girl's brother, William Staude, 28, and Brentwood police.

When he returned home early today, Staude saw the three men prowling about the home of a neighbor, Harry A. Kannegieser, of 32 Heathmore street, who is out of town.

Armed with a revolver, he chased the men into the nearby woods. While he was on the chase, Emma and her mother started for the home of Emma's married sister, Mrs. Louise Washburn, who lives nearby at 108 Heathmore street.

GIRL RECOVERING

They were walking across a field to the sister's home when the shots were fired, presumably by one of the burglars who had evaded Staude. The injured girl was recovering today and her condition was not believed serious.

Burglars had been operating in Brentwood the last few days, police reported. Two nights ago the Thomas home, adjoining the Staude residence, was robbed.

SHOT FROM CAR IN 3RD ATTACK

Fired upon from a passing auto today, while working in his garden, James De Costa, 41, of 424 Highland avenue, East Turtle Creek, was shot probably fatally. Eight bullets struck him. It was the third attempt on his life.

Hearing the shots, the victim's frantic wife ran from the house in time to see a car quickly speeding away. She rushed to the telephone and summoned an ambulance. At Braddock General Hospital his condition was reported critical.

Police and detectives lay the attack to the same gang that attempted to kill him last year. While sitting in a Braddock barber shop on January 9, 1928, three men entered with pulled-down caps and fired a volley of shots, hitting De Costa in the chest, and wounding another man, Sam Rosso, of 404 Braddock avenue, Turtle Creek. Both men were taken to the West Penn Hospital, where they recovered.

The second attempt was made August 14, when three men drew up beside De Costa's automobile in a touring car and fired. De Costa escaped the shots by leaping from his machine and opening fire on the men who wrecked their car against a pole. After a short battle, the three fled.

Davis Operation Sounded Serious; 'Twas Only Sty

CHICAGO, June 1.—(AP.)—The first thing that James J. Davis, secretary of labor, did upon his arrival at the Union Station from Washington yesterday was to make a dash for the railroad's emergency hospital. Two hours later he emerged, his face bandaged.

At the hospital reporters were gravely informed that the secretary had been operated upon for "hordeolum zeissianum." The reporters wrote it down in their little books, trying to routine the letters properly, but knowing naught of what was meant.

They reached Secretary Davis just as his train was pulling out. He tried to tell them what it was, but by that time he was well on his way to Mooseheart to deliver today's commencement address, and his words were lost.

The reporters thereupon repaired to a dictionary of medical terms where they found:

"Hordeolum zeissianum—a sty."

REPUBLICANS READY FOR METRO CHARTER CAMPAIGN

PARTY OPENS BIG DRIVE MONDAY

Headquarters Are Prepared Downtown; Rallies, Dinner Held to Advance Cause

Leaders of the Republican organization today were arranging their headquarters in Hotel Henry preparatory to its formal opening Monday, when a concerted drive will be begun for the Metropolitan charter. The work was to be under the direction of County Chairman Joseph G. Armstrong and Secretary William H. Ziefel.

The plan of the organization is to focus the attention of the voters on the special election June 25, Chairman Armstrong said today. With this in view, he said, nothing of a political nature is expected to develop ahead of the date for the charter vote.

The charter was the subject for speakers at a dinner given borough and township solicitors last night in the William Penn Hotel. Joseph T. Miller, chairman of the Metropolitan Plan Commission, was in charge, assisted by William E. Best, of Dormont, and E. A. Young, of Pittsburgh, members of the commission.

Attorney C. A. Robinson, counsel for the commission, outlined the history of the charter, dating its beginning at 1911, when those opposed to annexation to Pittsburgh formed the League of Boroughs and Townships and began their long fight to remain in separate units. He said that although the charter might be changed with regard to the annexation features by a two-thirds vote in both the annexing and annexed municipality, the change could not be completed until the constitution of the commonwealth was changed.

Other meetings in behalf of the charter were held at a citizens' rally in Glenwood, the West End Board of Trade and in Overbrook.

TRAIN ENDS LIFE OF MAD KILLER

tore into Conley's chest. A second roar and Hagberg, his face nearly shot away, whirled, screamed, took a dozen steps, and fell dead.

Policeman Joseph J. Murphy, Conley's chauffeur, who had remained in the car, seized a shotgun and started to the help of the other policemen. He had taken less than a dozen steps when Preuss' gun blazed through a front window and Murphy fell wounded.

A second later Gus Karos, who lived three doors away from the Preuss home, and John Chorazak, another neighbor, both attracted by the shooting, met where Murphy had fallen. Karos had rushed out to meet his blind brother-in-law, Rudolph Krusche, who had been to a nearby store and was expected home.

Another shot and Chorazak, who was standing not 10 feet from the window, fell dead. Karos jumped to shield with his body his brother-in-law, who was just passing the house. As he did so the fifth shell in Preuss' gun was discharged and he was struck in the back.

TAKES OFFICER'S GUNS

Preuss, in a fury, pressed the trigger again and the hammer fell on an empty chamber. Police believe that is the only reason Krusche, the blind man, was not numbered among the victims.

The slayer a second later rushed out of the rear door of his home, stood cursing the bodies of Conley and Hagberg, and then fled into an alley after taking the policeman's shotgun and, it is believed, his revolver.

In the alley, Preuss met Frank Vodicka, who was running toward the scene of the shooting. Vodicka turned and ran into a narrow passageway when he saw Preuss, foaming at the mouth and aiming the shotgun pointblank at him. Preuss fired one shell, then threw the weapon at Vodicka as the latter fled. The drink-crazed man was seen to take a pistol from his belt, wave it wildly, and run down the alley. That was the last seen of him.

MANY SEE KILLINGS

The shootings were witnessed by many persons. One woman was only a few yards from Conley and Hagberg when they fell. She fainted.

Mrs. Rose Preuss, the slayer's wife, was found in the home of a neighbor, where she had taken refuge when her husband fired two shots at her before the police arrived.

Mrs. Preuss said her husband had served in France during the war and had won honorable mention for his marksmanship. He was a hunting fan, she related, and had retained his marksmanship in that sport.

Physicians said Karos had been wounded 16 times and that he probably would die.

gesture that Riffle thought reflected on his driving.

"It 'riled' me," he explained to Magistrate Leo Rothenberg, who heard the case, "and I probably 'sassed' him in return."

CHALLENGE ISSUED

Young McCausland flared up at the "sass" and challenged Riffle to "take his glasses off."

"It was a challenge," said Riffle, "that I could not ignore without being considered a coward."

He promptly stepped out of his machine. McCausland was a little slower, and before he was through the door, Riffle, it is alleged, gave him a shove with the foot that sent him sprawling back into the car.

All of the men were out into the street in a jiffy, then, and fists began to fly. Young Riffle, according to young McCausland, singled out the elder McCausland, but McCausland, Jr., went to his father's assistance, and diverted the attack to himself. The outcome was that young McCausland's nose was broken and he was knocked unconscious, while young Riffle's shoulder was dislocated. The elder McCausland received bruises. Smith took no part in the fight.

Residents of the neighborhood called the police, and Patrolman P. Jovonavic arrested the five men.

There was a large crowd at the hearing. Police Magistrate Edward Hough, though not an attorney, acted as counsel for Riffle.

Magistrate Rothenberg postponed decision. He recommended that the participants in the affair adjust their grievances outside of court.

Man, Drawn by Screams, Saves Child From Pool

Summoned by the screams of a nursemaid, Clarence Isles, of 447 South Pacific avenue, yesterday leaped into a pool on the estate of Attorney H. Fred Mercer, in North Negley avenue, and rescued the attorney's daughter, Jasqueline, 3½ years old, who had fallen from a bridge into eight feet of water.

He swam 20 feet to the child, brought her to shore and revived her. At the home today it was said the child was none the worse for her experience.

Isles is a brother-in-law of Walter P. Willman, 33, of 4515 Friendship avenue, who was found dead in a Washington, Pa., hotel Thursday morning. He had learned of the tragedy only a few minutes before the rescue, upon his return home from a trip to Virginia.

Girls, Cleaning Dresses, Start Fire; 3 Hurt

BRADFORD, Pa., June 1.—(AP.) Twenty-five persons were made homeless and three burned here when a rooming house and two residences were destroyed by fire. The fire was believed to have started in the bathroom of the rooming house while two young women, Ruth Bailey and Betty Scott, were cleaning dresses with gasoline. They were burned about the arms.

Charles McBride was burned about the arms when he attempted to save furniture from the home of George Farrell, one of the places burned. The other residence was occupied by Mrs. John Kinney and the rooming house was conducted by Ralph Bailey.

U. P. ASSEMBLY REDUCES GIFT TO COUNCIL

Refuses to Withdraw From Federal Organization, but Halves Its Appropriation

The general assembly of the United Presbyterian Church today voted down a proposal by Argyle (N. Y.) Presbytery that it withdraw from the Federal Council of Churches on the ground that the council was too modernistic to represent Protestants at large. However, the assembly cut in half its yearly financial contribution to the council.

The Argyle memorial charged that council members had preached over the radio a brand of pacifism to which United Presbyterians do not subscribe.

"United Presbyterians are not pacifists. War is very often justified," Dr. E. S. McKittrick, of Pasadena, Cal., declared in support of the memorial.

NATABLES ATTACKED

The memorial also called into question the source of the council's income. Many private subscriptions have been accepted by the council in violation of its charter, it was alleged.

Dr. W. M. Nichols, of Brooklyn, launched a bitter attack upon Dr. S. Parkes Cadman and Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, noted members of the council, whose admitted modernism he said "seems to represent the spirit of the Federal Council of Churches. We had better have no Protestantism at all than that brand."

The assembly has been contributing $1,500 a year to the council. After the memorial had been defeated, a resolution to withdraw financial support was offered. It was defeated.

TOUR DISTRICT

During the afternoon many of the commissioners attending the assembly were to make tours of the Pittsburgh district, visiting several United Presbyterian institutions for inspections.

Tomorrow some of the visiting ministers will occupy pulpits in Pittsburgh churches. The Rev. Dr. Charles Gilmore, of Cadiz, O., will preside at the assembly communion in the North Church, where the Rev. Dr. W. J. Reid, of the First Church, will make the sacramental address.

A popular meeting of home missions was held last night, and it was decided that action on this question should be taken at the sessions Monday.

MERGER ACTION DEFERRED

Action upon a memorial for union with the Presbyterian Church, South, was deferred until Monday.

The assembly adjourned at noon. Tomorrow the delegates will visit various United Presbyterian philanthropic institutions in the Pittsburgh district, after a devotional service at which Dr. John W. McNaugher, moderator, will preach.

The Northwest high advanced eastward, and caused a change to cooler weather over the Ohio Valley states and the Lake Region. The high is centered north of the lakes this morning and extends southeastward over the Ohio Valley states to the south Atlantic states.

Low pressure areas cover the South and West. A disturbance centered over the east Gulf states produced showers over that section, and a center over Southern Kansas caused showers over the central plains states, and at scattered places southward to Southern Texas. At Kansas City the rainfall was 2.54 inches. The weather continues moderately cool over the plains states.

OHIO TOURISTS LEAVE IN BOAT

Closer relationship between two of the Ohio River's most important ports will result with the completion of the canalization project this fall, 43 members of the Cincinnati Commercial Club were told by Pittsburgh's industrial and commercial leaders at a banquet in the Duquesne Club last night.

It was the climax of a day of activity for the club, which arrived early yesterday and spent the day in a series of tours of industrial Pittsburgh. The visitors spent last night aboard the steamer "City of Cincinnati," which today was to carry them homeward, with stops scheduled at ports en route.

A spirit of commercial co-operation will result from an exchange of views by the representatives of the two cities, A. L. Humphrey, president of the Westinghouse Air Brake Company, and Attorney James Francis Burke told the visitors. In their responses, W. A. Draper and James Albert Green, speaking for Cincinnati, predicted a new era of economic development for Ohio River ports when navigation improvements are fully completed.

A. K. Oliver was toastmaster at the dinner and introduced the speakers.

The special train carrying the visitors arrived over the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad yesterday morning and was met by a committee at the station. Their hosts during the day included Mr. Oliver, assistant vice president of the Union Trust Company; George E. Benson, vice president of the same institution; H. D. Shute, vice president of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, and J. H. Oartel, representing the Carnegie Steel Company.

EXCELLENT news for all Europe and this country is the settlement of Germany's reparations problem.

The amount that Germany must pay every year is less than the profits from the labor of young Germans that will not be in the Kaiser's armies.

The French and the Poles will spend on standing armies more than Germany will pay in annual indemnity, and Germany, forbidden to have a great army and navy, will grow rich.

BUILDING TIEUP TO HIT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, June 1.—(AP.)—Bridge and structural iron workers were ordered last night by the executive board of their union to strike today for higher wages. The strike was expected to tie up $200,000,000 in new construction work and affect 2,200 workers.

The strike order was issued after several months' negotiations between the union and the Iron League, representing contractors, had failed. The union wanted an increase from $12 to $14 a day, but agreed to compromise upon $13. The league offered $12.50. The old wage agreement of $12 expired last night.

Some of the city's most important construction work would be tied up by a strike. Iron workers were expected to quit work on such buildings as the $45,000,000 Merchandise Mart, the Chicago Daily News building, the new Board of Trade building, the Chicago Civic Opera building, and the Illinois Merchants Bank building. Work on the Clark street bridge, which was being rushed to completion because of the recent disabling of the old bridge, also was expected to be halted.

CONGRESS AIMS TO RUSH WORK FOR RECESS

Leaders Map Plans to Clear Decks of Vital Issues for Alll-Summer Adjournment

WASHINGTON, June 1.—(AP.)—Congressional leaders had a fairly clear field today to develop their plans for an all-summer recess of the special session in sympathy with the expressed desires of President Hoover.

Senate and House were both in adjournment over the week-end and the only meeting called was that of the joint farm bill conference committee, which had already made considerable progress toward an agreement on all sections in which the two chambers failed to agree except the export debenture proposal.

DEBENTURE END SEEN

The Senate is expected to be called upon by its conference group to eliminate the debenture plan from its farm bill next week, and the House is prepared to take early action on the measure to provide for the 1930 census and subsequent reapportionment of the number of representatives allotted to each state.

Although some doubt has been expressed as to the willingness of the debenture advocates in the Senate to permit elimination of their proposal from the farm bill, administration leaders are counting on such action and are inclined to regard arrangements for disposition of tariff legislation as their principal task in the effort to comply with the President's views on summer recess plans.

The Chief Executive's opinion on that subject, as expressed in response to inquiries of newspaper correspondents, was outlined in the following statement:

PLAN TO QUIT JUNE 12

"The majority leaders, both Senator Watson and Congressman Tilton, are united in their recommendations to me that there should be no recess in the special session until farm legislation is complete, and that there should be no recess after that except for a few weeks to accommodate the Senate Finance Committee in its hearings on the tariff bill unless, there is a completely fixed agreement in the Senate as to an early date upon which a vote will be taken on the bill, with a further agreed period for debate on the conference reports, which would assure a final vote in the Senate as early as possible.

"The interest of the country obviously necessitates the rapid determination of both these questions, and I am entirely in accord with their views."

Senator Watson has tentatively decided to move for a recess from June 12 to September 9, with November 9 fixed as the date for the Senate's vote on the tariff bill and November 25 for action on the report of the Conference Committee which will be called upon in the meantime to adjust differences with the House.

Opposition to that program, however, has been indicated.

HALF OF CREDIT FUND RAISED

Pittsburgh has placed itself in a class by itself by its subscription of half its $65,000 quota in the second Credit Protection Fund campaign, it was announced from the campaign headquarters today.

New Orleans, which started on the same date as Pittsburgh, had, according to the most recent report, raised only about 18 per cent; Cincinnati, starting the day after Pittsburgh, had raised about 46 per cent at last reports; Toledo is nearing the halfway mark, but has a much lower quota; Cleveland, after 10 days of campaigning, has reached the 21 per cent mark.

Boston has not yet reached the 50 per cent mark; New York, with a half-million quota, is just about half way after campaigning for two months. Pittsburgh began May 13.

The next report meeting of the local campaign will take place Tuesday. Frank C. Demmler, Pittsburgh campaign chairman, has announced that he expects that date will mark a long stride towards 100 per cent of the quota.

LIQUOR SEIZED ON U. S. LINER

NEW YORK, June 1.—(AP.)—A special squad of the customs enforcement bureau yesterday seized approximately 900 bottles of liqueurs concealed in lifeboats of the liner President Harding, of the United States Lines, Inc.

The liner arrived at Hoboken, N. J., and an exhaustive search was made before the liquor, wrapped in brown paper in packages of about nine bottles each, was found.

The liquor was taken to the barge office, and the captain of the ship has been asked to go to the customs office today for an inquiry into the presence of the liquor on his vessel.

Since its recent transfer from government ownership, the liner has sold liquor on its westward voyages. Under this arrangement the liner has been required to throw overboard all liquor in excess of medicinal stores when it approaches New York.

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Me., June 1.—(INS.)—With a heavy fog blanketing the Atlantic from here to the grand banks and winds of gale force reported blowing all across the ocean, the aviators planning trans-Atlantic flights in the monoplanes Green Flash and Yellow Bird faced another day's delay today.

Roger Q. Williams and Lewis A. Yancey, crew of the Green Flash, who are standing by awaiting a favorable weather report, said they would not start for Rome before tomorrow noon at the earliest.

Armeno Lotti, Jr., owner of the French plane, is in New York awaiting improved weather conditions.

Italy Crushes Rebel Tribesmen in Tripoli

TRIPOLI, June 1.—(AP.)—Italian authorities believe they have crushed the rebellion of tribesmen under Mohammed Bey Hag Hassen by a major engagement in which 454 were killed on both sides. The battle was fought in the Tripolitan desert on May 26, and was described in a bulletin issued last night.

Several thousand men engaged in the combat, which came as the climax of a number of minor engagements. The communique said that 430 rebels were killed, several hundred wounded and many taken prisoner. The Italian casualties of 24 dead and 77 wounded included several officers.

Teachers' Colleges Give 317 Diplomas

Others are: Mansfield, 51; East Stroudsburg, 41; West Chester, 31; Slippery Rock, 23; Edinboro, 21; Shippensburg, 17; Bloomsburg, 16; California, 14; Millersville, 13; Kutztown, 11; Lock Haven, 8, and Clarion, 2.

GIRL MYSTIFIED BY PLUNGE

"I can't remember what happened—something whizzed around my head and then everything went blank until I found myself lying here on the bed and daddy came in."

This is all that 15-year-old Frances Norris, Holmes eighth grade student, remembers of her 145-foot plunge from the Wilmot street bridge into a gulley alongside the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks on the edge of Schenley Park Tuesday morning. She was able today to tell her own story. Whether she fell, jumped or was thrown, the quiet little school girl canont recall; but one thing is certain—she's a lucky girl!

Propped up in her cot at the Children's Hospital, Fifth avenue, she smiles rather wanly when anyone recalls her miraculous escape from serious injury. The lower part of her face is swathed in bandages around a deep cut across her chin. She says the injury causes her no pain, the only sore spot being a bruise on her right shoulder. Her face and arms are scratched and a red scratch around her neck marks where her necklace was forced into the tender skin by the force of her plunge.

ALL ARE MYSTIFIED

The police are just as mystified as Frances, her parents, hospital attaches and others who have pondered the girl's precipitous plunge and marveled that she was not more seriously injured.

The family lives at 421 Atwood street.

"I remember leaving home. Mother gave me the material for baby's petticoat and I wrapped it around my speller.

"When I passed the drug store I noticed it was 20 minutes to 9, and I hurried on to school because I didn't want to be late."

Here the girl paused in her narrative, and she was asked about her school work.

"Of course I like school—I want to graduate and then go to business school."

BOY MISSING

Police who lifted the girl's limp form from the bottom of the gulley and carried her to the police patrol at the head of a long flight of steps leading down from the bridge, say she murmured, "turn me over, I'm hurt," when they reached her.

Police say they were notified by a storekeeper in the neighborhood who reported that a boy ran in and breathlessly asked that police be called.

"A woman jumped off the bridge—call the police," the lad told the storekeeper, police say.

Police, thus far, have been unable to find the boy or anyone else who saw the girl jump.

4 DIE, 12 HURT IN FACTORY EXPLOSION

Truck Driver and 3 Others Killed in Fireworks Plant; Girl Workers Also Injured

ELKTON, Md., June 1.—(AP.)—Four men were killed, and a dozen other persons hurt yesterday by an explosion in one of the buildings of the Victory Sparkler Company, fireworks manufacturers, near here.

The dead are Harry Brown, 58, truck driver; Vernice Jones, 38; John Gilbert, 21, and Allen Dickerson, 24, laborers. A dozen girls employed at the plant were injured by flying glass, shattered by the force of the blast.

Fire, which followed the explosion, was quickly extinguished after destroying the small building in which the blast occurred, and damaging the adjoining one. A fire earlier in the day damaged another of the small buildings, a number of which comprise the factory.

The blast occurred while Brown was unloading chemical materials used in the manufacture of fireworks.

CANOEIST DIES, ONE SAVED

One boy was drowned and another was rescued in canoe accidents on the local rivers.

Michael Ronhk, 18, drowned in the Allegheny River near the Hulton Bridge last night while his parents, who were seated on the rear porch of their home at House No. 5, Harmarville, near the river, looked on. He was paddling in a canoe with his uncle, Harold Ake, and a girl friend, and was thrown from the craft when it capsized a few seconds after the girl, who was in a bathing suit, leaped into the water. Ronhk was carried downstream by the current, though considered a good swimmer. The body was recovered a short time later by a dragging party headed by W. R. Shoop, a Hulton ferryman.

Robert Collins, 20, of 920 Fifth avenue, McKeesport, was recovering in McKeesport Hospital today from shock suffered when he fell into the Monongahela River near the Duquesne-McKeesport bridge as the canoe he was paddling overturned. He was rescued by companions.

Aerial Television 'Eye' Soon Ready to Picture War

WASHINGTON, June 1.—(INS.)—An "aerial television eye" which may well revolutionize future warfare is about to be presented to the world.

It is a contrivance which will permit an airplane to go aloft and broadcast back living panoramas of all the terrain passed over.

C. Francis Jenkins, noted Washington physicist and father of television, is the inventor, and he promised today it will soon be a scientific reality.

Through use of this radio eye of the sky, he pointed out, general headquarters of an army could be put in sight range of actual operations at the front, and the officers directing artillery fire could sit before a screen, see exactly where their shells land and correct the range accordingly. Movements behind the enemy line would be revealed instantaneously in newsreel fashion.

Jenkins is about to make a series of practical tests of his sensational discovery. He is having a Stinson junior cabin monoplane of the four-passenger type especially constructed for the purpose, the plane to be in the nature of a flying laboratory. Already, the inventor has secured successful results, using ground models from a fixed base.

At present, the television apparatus has a range of 10 miles, operating by means of a photographic lens focussed on the ground through an opening in the booth of the plane. A "scanning mechanism" is placed over the lens, this in turn being connected with a television radio broadcasting outfit fastened and controlled from within the plane's cabin.

Jenkins plans to reproduce the land panorama which will be thus broadcast in a film screen in his laboratory here.

The Church Is the Meeting Place of God and His People

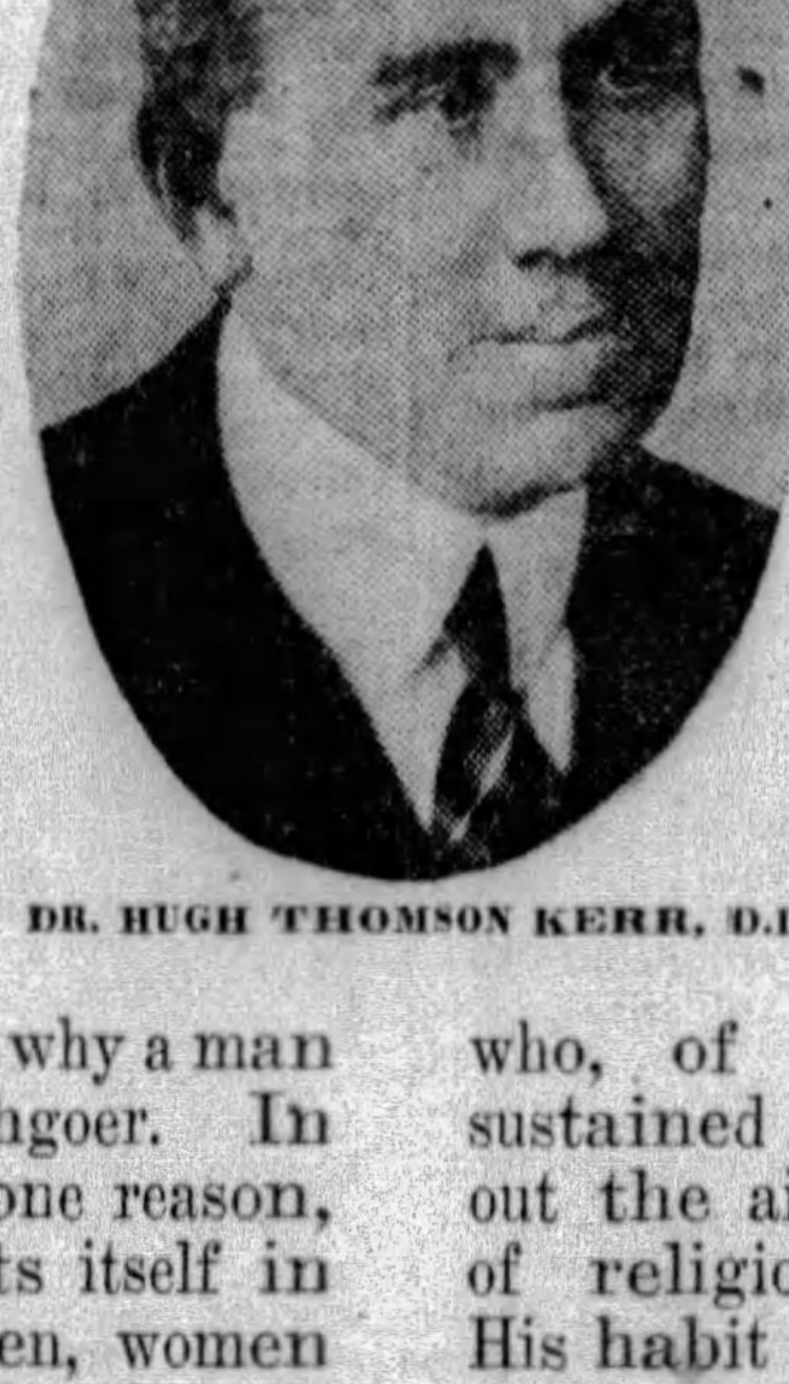
SERMONETTE

"COME TO CHURCH SUNDAY"

By Hugh Thomson Kerr, D. D.

THE words of the familiar song, "I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord," have sung themselves into the hearts of millions. It is a song older than any of our oldest songs. It was sung a thousand years before the Christmas song was heard on the plains of Bethlehem and there are more people singing it today than at any time in history. The Church is everywhere criticised and at all times analyzed, and yet of all institutions it is the most aggressive and most effective, the most ubiquitous of organizations on this earth and is increasing proportionately today in America more rapidly than the population of our country.

Why do people come to Church by the millions? Theaters and shows and exhibitions come and go with the centuries and are on a nervous tension to change their programs weekly and daily. An exhibition that lasts a month or a year is unique and receives headline displays; but the Church carries on through the centuries with the same service, the same message, and millions wait upon its ministry.



DR. HUGH THOMSON KERR, D.D.

Theodore Roosevelt gave ten reasons why a man should be a churchgoer. In reality there is but one reason, and that reason roots itself in the need of life. Men, women and children need the Church and it lives and grows because it supplies their need. Behind the habit born in childhood and behind the obligation established by custom there exists a hunger of the heart that is not satisfied without worship. There are those who say that a man can be religious without the Church, but to so speak is to deny the mother that nourished him. The man who says he can be religious apart from the Church is in the class with the man who says he can be musical by holding fellowship with nature and the birds. Perhaps! But his type of music would not thrill an audience; and religion born merely of sentiment would not move an old-fashioned water wheel.

Gladstone said "I go to Church because I love England." That is good. The Church nourishes the roots of patriotism. Oliver Wendell Holmes said "I have a little plant called Reverence in my heart which needs watering once a week." That is better. Augustine said, "We are made for God and our hearts are restless till they rest in Him." That is best. The man who never kneels in prayer with his fellow men, who never listens to the voice within when the voices without are hushed, is the supreme egotist. Our Lord Jesus, who, of all men, could have sustained His spiritual life without the aid of organized forms of religion, was found, "as His habit was," regularly in the village synagogue on the Sabbath day. There was much to criticise doubtless in the service of the synagogue at Nazareth, but there Jesus found food for His soul. If it is reasonable for us to follow His example in other things, why not in this? This is why millions still sing, "I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord."

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Betty McCullough Leaves To Join House Party At Garden City

"WHEN if ever come perfect days," said Mr. Lowell. And June certainly has made a valiant effort to live up to her reputation, hasn't it? At least, she is off to a good start, and for the sake of the brides and the debutantes—not to mention our own—let's hope she keeps it up throughout the month.

Speaking of the debutantes reminds me that one of the past winter's buds is in the East this week-end. Betty McCullough, daughter of the William T. McCulloughs, of Bennington avenue, left last night for Garden City, Long Island, where she is a member of a house party being given by Mrs. Herbert Smith. Early next week, Betty will attend the commencement exercises at Miss Wright's School, where she was graduated, herself, last June. And from the graduation exercises, Betty will bring home with her one of her classmates, Mary Reynolds, of Winston-Salem, N. C., who will visit her here for a short time.

And still on the topic of commencement, several girls from prominent Pittsburgh families are members of the graduating class at Smith College this June. One is Lucy Ward, daughter of the Thomas Coleman Wards, of Walnut street, who made her debut winter before last, and another is Mary Elizabeth Nicholson, daughter of the John Hancock Nicholsons, of Shady avenue. Also members of the senior class are Josephine Stieren, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edward Stieren, of the Bellefield Dwellings; Carolyn Bixler, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lewis Clyde Bixler, of Sheridan avenue; Mary Louise Hampton, daughter of the William J. Hamptons, of Portland street; Mary Louise Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archer Everett Young, of Asbury place; Nancy Shaw Miller, daughter of the William Booth Millers, of Pine road, Sewickley; Margaret B. Batchelor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Davis Batchelor, of Brighton road, Ben Avon, and Ruth Hollander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Hollander, of Albemarle street.

The graduation exercises will be held Monday, June 17, and the speaker will be Dr. Raymond Fosdick.

College Club Names Honorary Members

FOR their outstanding contribution to education, the College Club has elected to honorary membership Miss Cora Helen Coolidge and Miss Mary Bidwell Breed, the first so chosen in nearly 20 years.

With vacation days and their leisure time coming on apace, the club's program committee worked wisely in having for the last talk of the season one on books, particularly so since Miss Alice Thurston McGirr, of Carnegie Library, was the speaker. Miss McGirr gives an audience a great deal of entertainment and concise information in an hour. Yesterday afternoon, under the title "Books for Leisure and Study," she began with Ernest Dimnet's "The Art of Thinking," which, she said, "makes you enjoy your mind." In the list of books on history and national psychology, Miss McGirr mentioned Charles A. Beard's "Whither Mankind, a Panorama of Modern Civilization," remarking that it quite repays study; "Englishmen, Frenchmen, Spaniards," in which Salvador de Madariaga sets forth that the English are the thinking men, the French the men of action and the Spaniards the men of emotion; "Journey's End," the play by R. C. Sherriff, wherein all the characters are soldiers, and Joseph Hergesheimer's "Swords and Roses," written, as Miss McGirr observed, with the grace and style and clarity we have come to associate with this author. Several American, English and European biographies were discussed, among them "Elizabeth and Essex," which "reads itself," and Rachel Annand Taylor's "Leonardo, the Florentine," which reads with such rich poetic prose as to be almost cloying at times and for which one needs an unabridged dictionary at one's elbow." From the biographical books Miss McGirr went on to books of fiction, including Henry Williamson's "The Pathway," just the kind of book you would like to write, according to the speaker, Sigrid Undset's "Kristin Lavransdatter," and many others, and then spoke briefly on the newer books of poetry, among them Emily Dickinson's "Further Poems."

Miller chairman of the commission. In this series the provisions of the charter will be set forth in plain language shorn of its legal verbiage.

By JOSEPH T. MILLER,
Chairman Metropolitan Plan Commission.

The Metropolitan charter recognizes the importance of zoning legislation in the development of madern cities.

Under Article Two, the Consolidated City is given authority to create districts for the purpose of regulating the location, height, area, bulk and use of buildings and premises.

This authority also includes planning and zoning powers.

But the consolidated city's powers shall not supplant the regulations of any borough, township or city within the Metropolitan area.

In case of inconsistency, the zoning regulations of these municipal units shall prevail over those of the consolidated city.

SMOKE CONTROL

Another important duty recognized in the charter is that of smoke control.

The consolidated city will have the power to regulate by ordinance the production or emission of smoke from any chimney, smokestack, or other source.

It will have the power to regulate the construction of new, or the rebuilding of old, chimneys, stacks and other smokepipes.

METROPOLITAN POLICE

Moreover, Article Two of the charter confers authority for the creation of a Metropolitan police force.

(To Be Continued.)

Voters are invited to propound any proper question regarding the charter and these will be answered promptly if addressed to Chairman Joseph T. Miller 519 Smithfield street, Pittsburgh enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope. Some answers to inquiries of pertinent interest will be published in the Sun-Telegraph.

Local Amusement Announcements Combined With Hollywood News Tales

NEW BOSS FOR WALLIE BEERY; NO FURTHER MENTION OF MacLEAN DIVORCE

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, June 1.

NOT SO long ago, Douglas MacLean made a Sine-talky yclept, "The Carnation Kid." The outloud was barred from Chicago screens because there was reference to "A gunman from Chicago." The producers volunteered to eliminate this, but the censors said they wouldn't permit it to be shown anyhow because the story included a plot to kill a district attorney! Sorta tough on the home team.

Speaking of MacLean, there has been no further mention of divorce. Hollywood—and believe it or not the town lapses sentimental on occasion (particularly when it's the "other man")—rather hopes the MacLean's don't sever marital relations. Faith is a terribly nice person and 14 years of marriage is 14 years.

Douglas MacLean

The girl in the case—Lorraine Eddy, an attractive blonde—is either preparing to depart town or has left already for New York. She sub-leased her apartment to a fem friend. It was not until his last flick that Doug met Lorraine. The rest, it seems, is Kismet.

Wallace Beery Signs With M.G.M.

THERE'S nothing deader in a studio than an actor who is finishing his contract and has not been given a new one. Take the case of Wallie Beery. Wallie has been with Famous Players for years and years. When the company discontinued co-starring him and Raymond Hatton in komedies, he was given more serious roles. But the exeks expressed no enthusiasm for his performances. Subsequently, his contract was not renewed. Wallie completed his Famous sojourn, however, in a burst of glory as a featured player in "Magnolia."

Wallace Beery.

He thereupon signed with M. G. M. Famous decided he was made to order for a part in "The Virginian." They tried to borrow him from M. G. M. That outfit had other plans. Which, my dears, is a cross slant of studio life in Hollywood.

"Queen Kelly" To Be Finished

FROM a confidential source, this flicker bureau learns that Gloria Swanson will positively complete "Queen Kelly," the $750,000 Erich von Stroheim celluloider now gathering dust on a Pathe shelf. This decision succeeds an earlier one that declared the film was checked in on the debit side of the ledger. Perhaps the change is due to Joseph P. Kennedy's appearance in town. Mr. Kennedy is associated with the Swanson unit financially. He's an erstwhile banker who appreciates the value of money, even on paper. So when Gloria finishes "The Love Years," her current story now in rehearsal, direction Edmund Goulding, she returns to "Queen Kelly." Mr. Kennedy is a frequent visitor on her set, and it is said that the rehearsals are progressing nicely. I understand Anna Q. Nilsson will appear in La Swanson's support, playing the role of the invalid wife.

Gloria Swanson.

Lenore Ulrich In Hollywood

SCREENALITIES: . Famous Players was the only studio operating Memorial Day . . . . LENORE ULRICH, W. K. Broadway star, arrived in town 't'other morn accompanied by SIDNEY BLACKMER, also W. K. stage-ite here, to make a flick mebbe, and four servants. She was met at the station by WINNIE SHEEHAN, ALLAN OWAN, and other exeks. Miss Ulrich has taken a suite at the Bev Wilshire . . . It is with regret (?) that this flick bureau reports STEPIN FETCHIT, the hot chocolate of the screen, departed this village without marrying the fem of his choice. Stepin's art interfered with the ceremony, he havin' to speed to Annapolis with the John Ford troupe. Yes, now he's in the Navy. Whether or not the "Girl in Every Port" code of the sailor will influence Fetchit remains to be seen. . . . . ALICE WHITE and SID BARTLETT, W. K. Singer, lunching together. This may be serious. Sid's an awfully nice kid . . . . LILYAN TASHMAN and CONNIE BENNETT also crunching crackers and discussing that and this . . . SEENA OWEN motoring her mother to their beach home in Santa Monica . . . . VIOLA DANA is hailed as Hollywood's champion jack player. Vi is liable to go in for checkers at any minute . . . And—that's all Lenore Ulrich.

MOVIE TALK AND "PIGS" COMING

There may not be anything very aesthetic about a litter of pigs, but Anne Morrison and Patterson McNutt have woven a stage romance, using six little pigs as the basis of the story. The production will be presented by the George Sharp Players in the Pitt next week.

Ramon Novarro sings several songs in "The Pagan," picture coming to the Penn Monday.

Billie Dove's first talking picture, "Careers," will be the screen feature in the Stanley next week.

SONG, DANCE FILMS

"Hearts in Dixie," picture of Negro life, will be presented on the Harris and Sheridan Square screens Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. It is a talk, song and dance production.

"The Desert Song," movie operetta, will remain for a third and final week in the Grand, beginning today.

"Speakeasy," an all-talkie of Broadway night life, comes Monday to the Aldine. The cast features Lola Lane and Paul Page, young recruits from the legitimate stage.

NEW SHOWS TODAY

"The Bachelor Girl," with Jacqueline Logan and William Collier, Jr., will open a week's engagement on the Enright screen today.

Helen Kane plays opposite Richard Dix in "Nothing But the Truth," talk film, opening today in the Regent.

Swimming Pool Open In Kennywood Park

Kennywood Park's swimming pool is now open. The new "Mary, Quite Contrary Garden" also is open and is proving a popular spot for those interested in unique floral features, holding flowers of this and other generations that make it an instructive as well as recreational feature. The Playboys under the direction of Izzy Cervone, play for the afternoon and evening dancing, and will be in the pavilion tonight. The band concerts tomorrow will be under the direction of Lieut. T. J. Vastine.

Aliquippa Man Held As Death Car Driver

ALIQUIPPA, Pa., June 1.—William Markont, 27, of 507 Beaver avenue, was held without bond by Justice of the Peace Lawrence V. Gibbs, of Sewickley, on a charge of manslaughter, and committed to the Allegheny County jail. It is alleged by police that Markont was the driver of an automobile which last Sunday ran down and killed Robert M. Harper, 80, of Glenwillard.

Stock Valuation Asked in Merger

John D. Meyer and others, as counsel for 55 stockholders representing 2,200 shares of the West Penn Steel Company, recently merged with Allegheny Steel, have filed a bill in equity for a valuation of the stock. Holders received $375 per share for their West Penn Steel holdings, on a basis of seven and a half shares to one.

Accused of Leaving Bride of 4 Months

Mrs. Beatrice Nobel, of the Wendover Apartments, Hobart street, alleged her married life with Max Nobel, of 928 Clarissa street, lasted less than four months, in an action for divorce filed in Common Pleas Court. They were married January 19, 1927, and she alleged he deserted her without cause on May 2, 1927.

MEOWS AS PETS

Somewhere among studio trappings Mary Brian found a stray cat and two kittens and she immediately adopted them as pets. Here she is seen entertaining them at luncheon.

RESTAURANTS AID TAX DRIVE

Managers of Pittsburgh restaurants are enthusiastic supporters of the campaign for the reduction of the federal tax on earned incomes. An officer of the Pittsburgh Stewards' Club estimated that 500,000 persons took meals in local restaurants daily and he added that a more equitable tax helped the business.

"I don't mean that the average man applies his savings in tax to tempting his palate," explained the restaurant man, "but it is a fact that restaurants and hotels do a more flourishing business in more prosperous times, and it is admitted on all sides that a downward revision in the tax on the incomes of professional men and all wage earners would create more prosperity. A lighter tax burden is better for business all around and we are glad to go after our share."

While the restaurants have been co-operating since the beginning of the canvass by asking their guests to sign petitions where blank forms were kept on view for all to join in the appeal, they are now enlisting the support of their employes. As a result the hotel and restaurant trade will produce several thousand additional signatures.

"While we were asking our guests to sign petitions and were busy lining up important men and prominent people generally in indorsing the movement for lower taxes, our own people asked an opportunity to go along," said Fred L. Klooz, president of the Roosevelt Hotel Company. "Everybody willingly assists this campaign."

Additional petitions of indorsements yesterday were received from Spang, Chalfant & Company, the General Electric Company, the Union Drawn Steel Company and other large industrial concerns. In Bridgeville 100 per cent of the business houses in that community signed petitions, and Irwin made an equally good record.

RADIO TO CARRY AIRS OF CITY'S COMPOSERS

Pittsburgh Period Will Be Devoted to Foster, Nevin, Cadman, Victor Herbert

By DARRELL V. MARTIN,
Radio Editor.

Pittsburgh is famous not only for its iron and steel but for rare musical talent known the world over.

Foster, Herbert, Pannella, Cadman, Nevin—these are only a few of the musicians who have spread the fame of our city. Pa Pitt tonight will take recognition of all his composers in the Pittsburgh Period over KDKA at 10:01 o'clock. And to make the whole thing unanimous for Pittsburgh, every member participating will be a Pittsburgher.

Senator "Bob" LaFollette, of Wisconsin, youngest member in the upper House of Congress, is scheduled to talk to the radio audience through WJAS at 10 o'clock. While his subject has not been announced it is expected that he will have something to say about "secret sessions."

CAVALCADE RETURNS

The outlook for dancers is bright as usual, with Eddie Peyton's Orchestra from WCAE at 5 o'clock, starring Pauline Herman, popular Delmont entertainer; Tracy-Brown at 7:31 over WCAE; the Cinco-Paters, WJAS at 8; Seven-Eleven Dance at 9:30, KDKA; Lucky Strike Dance, WCAE at 10; George Olsen and his Music, over WJAS at 10:30 o'clock; Don Bestor's Orchestra immediately following the KDKA Far North program at 11:05, and Rudy Vallee and Dave Bernie over WCAE from midnight until 1 a. m. Sunday.

The Festival of Light, WCAE at 11:01 p. m., is another Atlantic City program tracing the history of light through the master works of famous composers.

The Radio Cavalcade returns to the air tonight at 8 o'clock over WCAE, offering "Stampede" as their opening number. Fans remember them from past seasons as a very worth while entertainment.

Paul Whiteman continues to play his way to Hollywood, stopping off at KMBC, 316 meters, Kansas City, for a two-hour concert, starting at 11 o'clock, Pittsburgh time.

Before going to bed last night Andy suggested that the boys go down to the lodge hall. They met some of the members there and the crowd decided to go over to a restaurant and get some food. Andy insisted on Amos staying with the crowd and the little stag party disbanded at 2 a. m. Apparently the food did not agree with Amos because he had a bad dream and awoke at 6 a. m. and the scene opens with Amos in bed trying to awaken Andy.

Don Seeks Dark Form in Bushes While at Gay Party With Eugenie

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Don Carlos Whiting goes to Hawaii after he discovers that his wife, Eve, is carrying on an affair with George Phillips, a neighbor. On landing in the island he is accosted by a native, David Nahuli, who offers him $2,000 for delivering a black bag. In carrying out this mission he meets Eugenie, Nahuli's white wife. Then in wandering about Don Carlos meets Selma Wilson, crippled mother of an unusual family, which includes a daughter, Ruth. The latter plans a companionate marriage with Al Harding, much to the disgust of her father, Big Tim Wilson. Nahuli orders him to carry the black bag again. Eugenie invites him to her cottage on Tantalus Hill. She tells him he has been delivering opium and warns him. Among revelations is that Nahuli forced her to marry him to save her father from prison. Don Carlos spends his time working on a play from which he expects success. He and Eugenie fall in love. On Ruth's wedding day Big Tim goes on a vacation —disgusted. Then David learns of the affair between his wife and Don Carlos.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XIX.

"OH, no! No! Never!" There was great fear in Eugenie's voice. "You must never do that, Don Carlos. My father—the opium ring would stop at nothing if you attempted to expose one of its gang. No, no!"

"Then let's forget it for the present, dear. Ruth and Al want us to join them tonight with a group of young people. They're going over to the leeward side of the island for a luau. Ruth promises the chow will be good; even to the squid. Can you get away? Do say yes, dear."

"I'm afraid, Don Carlos. David hasn't been home for several nights; tonight he may come. If he doesn't find me there, well, he'll imagine things."

"Let him imagine. We can't stop people from thinking, you know."

"Where will Ruth and Al meet us?"

"They're driving out to 'Henriette,' and we'll take our own car."

They had been driving toward the city and had reached Eugenie's father's small house.

"I'll be ready," she conceded, as she stepped from the car. "Good-by until then."

A moment later she disappeared into the cool darkness of her father's doorway.

"Beastly place, this Africa! No wimmen here!"

Al Harding was holding a half dollar in his eye to imitate an Englishman's monocle, having a hard struggle to keep it in place. He addressed his own circle of friends.

"I like that," retorted Ruth. "You've had too much oke, old dear. Your vision's becoming blurred. There's plenty of women here. Look at Eugenie! She never looked more beautiful than she does tonight."

"Well—ah, present company, old dear."

"Too bad the ocean's so warm here at night. I think a good cold bath would straighten you out, friend husband."

"Don't want to be straightened out. I'm too happy; don't ever want to be straightened out."

"Let him enjoy himself, Ruth," protested Don Carlos.

A native Hawaiian girl passed near the crowd at that moment. Al called to her.

"Give me a kiss, old deah; won't you, now?"

The girl, bronzed like old metal, an entrancing figure, roguishly blew one to him from the palm of her hand. "That's not half enough." But the girl had passed on, leaving Al staring grotesquely after her. Then he turned to his own crowd.

"Oh, I say! I must hear myself talk. Listen, Mrs. Wife and everyone else—this includes you, Don Carlos—I think this is clever:

"Ah, you'll never know Hawaii 'til you've kissed an island girl
And she's hung a ginger lei around your neck;
'Til you've danced the hula-hula on a beach of sand and pearl
And have eaten raw opihis by the peck.
'Til you've hung your every garment on a big kamani tree
And have felt the foaming surf about your knees.
'Til you've plunged into the breakers with a cry of pagan glee
In a bathing suit of moonlight and a breeze.

'Til you've heard the old folks yearning of the days before today
At a luau over bowls of fish and poi;
'Til you've gone aboard a steamer with intent to stay away,
And have learned the meaning of 'Aloha Oi.'"

Al joined in the applause which followed his recitation.

"Say, whos's game to plunge into the breakers in a bathing suit of moonlight and a breeze? How about it, Don Carlos?"

"Listen, husband-of-mine. You'll plunge into the breakers with your perfectly good blue and white bathing suit; and nothing but—" Ruth began.

"My first name's Al and my second is Hen-pecked. And I thought it would be different, because we were original in our choice of a marriage idea!"

"The girls will have to go to the cars first and change, Al," spoke up Don Carlos. "Let's smoke the pipe of peace together while they get ready."

"That suits me fine. But make it snappy, girls. The ocean's calling me."

The girls disappeared into the two automobiles, where the sound of their voices floated back to the men smoking beside the table. They had been seated upon the ground, the table set before them in a mass of plaintain leaves and ferns. No silverware was in evidence, fingers having been used.

Don Carlos rose to stretch himself. In the shadows of the branches of the koa and algoroba trees which were casting fantastic figures upon the ground, caused by the moon peeping through them, he noticed a figure lurking close to them. He went toward it; saw it disappear into the deeper shadows.

Pshaw! He was getting jumpy; developing nerves.

Strange, but there was something about the slinking figure which reminded him of David Nahuli; something in the carriage of the head.

Could he have been spying on them? How did he know where Eugenie had gone to spend the evening? The luau was being held on the leeward side of the island, miles from Honolulu.

"Oh-hoo! Al, come here a moment," Ruth called to her husband.

"Be with you in a jiffy," and Al bounded over the intervening space where Ruth stood parked under the trees.

Don Carlos decided to make a closer inspection. He didn't like the thought of that slinking figure in the shadows.

He walked toward the spot where it had disappeared. Apparently, the figure had seen him coming, for it stopped where the shade was thickest.

HIS FIRST FEE

By LENORE KISSELMAN STERN

Daily Short Story

JOHN HENRY MASON leaned back in the swivel chair of his six-month-old law office and wondered when the rose-hued dreams of his law school days would come true. He reflected upon the events which had transpired since his graduation and bitterly decided that the ancient and honored profession to which he had sworn allegiance was a dismal failure as a producer of food and drink. For six dreary months since he had first hung out his shingle, "John Henry Mason, Attorney-at-Law," his only callers had been creditors seeking payment for the typewriter, stationery and overdue installments on the office furniture.

Through the window shone the golden rays of the August sun and the cloudless blue of the sky was unblemished save by the lazy spirals which listlessly emerged from the tall chimneys of Ironsville's pride and joy, the Weldon Foundries.

At a sound of footsteps in the hallway which presaged a possible client, John pulled his chair close to the desk and feigned industrious interest in the bills, statements and dunning letters, the only papers before him.

The door opened and the newcomer approached John with outstretched hand.

"Good morning, Mr. Mason."

"Good morning, sir, won't you have a seat? If you don't mind waiting, I would like to finish what I am doing here, a very important matter that I am taking care of for Mr. Weldon. I presume you are familiar with the name, he owns the foundries across the street."

"Quite satisfactory," said the stranger. "Take your time. I am in no hurry."

"Now, sir, what can I do for you?" asked John a few minutes alter.

"Mr. Mason, if you will give me a few minutes of your time, I have something here which will be of great importance to you," and the suave prospect began to open up his brief case. "I have a proposition in which I am sure you will be interested. The National Publishing Company has a special inducement. With each three-year subscriptions to their magazine, a handsomely bound set of O. Henry's works with full illustrations . . ."

"Not interested," interrupted John with disappointment and disgust. "I am, as you see, too busy to discuss this with you now. Some other time, perhaps," and he escorted the salesman to the door.

John slumped down in his seat and made up his mind that the future in his chosen career held nothing for him and decided to close his office for once and all. He had just reached for his hat when a timid tap on the door announced another visitor.

"Come in," he called.

The opening of the door revealed to his sight a vision of loveliness that fairly took his breath away.

"Are you busy?" she asked, in a voice the music of which so thrilled him that his very fingertips tingled.

"Why, of course not. Won't you come in?" he begged.

When she sat down in the chair in front of his desk the light from the window showed him only too clearly the peaches and cream of her complexion and the shine of the sun turned her hair into strands of finely spun gold.

How like the sky the blue of her eyes, John thought, and then to himself, "I suppose she is soliciting for some pet charity, and what's worse, I can't even donate anything, but to her he said in a cheerful voice, "Is there something I can do for you?"

"Yes," she replied. "I have a matter which requires the attention of a lawyer, but unfortunately I am not in a position to pay a fee unless you are willing to trust me for it."

For the first time noticing the shabbiness of her attire, which seemed so incongruous when compared with her remarkable beauty, he asked, "Let's hear your case."

"You see, I am the daughter of Robert Weldon who died a year ago and who was the brother of Edgar Weldon, owner of the foundries. My father worked for his brother for many years, and dad told me many times he had an interest in the business. When father died very suddenly, leaving us nothing, I went to my uncle and asked him about it but he denied that my father was entitled to anything from the business and refused to do anything for us.

"My mother is an invalid and times have been very hard, often the little bit which I have been able to earn has been scarcely enough to keep body and soul together.

"I have consulted many lawyers around town, most of whom told me I—I had no grounds for which legal action could be had. Two or three thought I might have a fair chance, but they refused to do anything for me unless I was able to pay them a fee in advance. This, of course, I was unable to do. I thought that perhaps you might be willing to do something and make your fee contingent upon the success of my claim."

John wondered how the other attorneys were able to resist the charm of that smile and the hypnotic influence of those calm, blue eyes. He was not able to and accepted his first client.

It was Edgar Weldon speaking and he shook his finger at John as they trudged to the top of the courthouse on the morning of the trial of the case of Weldon vs. Weldon.

"Let me tell you, young man," he shouted angrily, "you haven't a chance, and after I get through with you, you will wish you had never started to practice in this town."

John reflected on the quantity of his success and thought perhaps Weldon's prophesy was a little late but made no comment, however, and went on into the courtroom accompanied by his fair client.

It was on the second day of the trial that the older lawyers sitting about the courtroom began to wonder if there was not something to the plaintiff's case, after all.

When the plaintiff had finished her side of the case and the court had refused a nonsuit, John had Weldon on the stand for cross-examination. Bit by bit the truth came out.

The members of the jury crammed their necks forward with renewed interest. John's adroitness was a surprise even to himself. At the noon recess, Weldon's counsel began to angle for terms of settlement and that night a proposition was arrived at which was satisfactory to all concerned.

A few thousand meant not so much to Weldon but to Helen (John called her Helen now) they spelled, food, drink, clothing, comforts, yes, even a few of the luxuries of life.

On the day named for the final settlement, Weldon personally brought the check.

"See here, Mason," he said, "you've accomplished a two-fold purpose in winning this case, you gave me a good excuse to fire Adkins, my present attorney, and you provided means for the support of my niece and her mother."

John smiled, not a little pleased by Weldon's plaudits.

"Would you," continued Weldon, "forsake your present practice and take over the legal affairs of the Weldon Foundries?"

That evening John called at the home of his cilent to deliver the check he had received.

After a joyous and pleasant evening, which, incidentaly, was only one of the many which John had spent at Helen's home during the progress of the trial, Helen in a voice that faltered, whispered, "I will pay you your fee as soon as I can deposit this money in my own account."

John, somewhat embarrassed, answered, "Being at present counsel for the Weldon Foundries, Inc., to a certain extent interferes with my accepting a fee, but as your personal representative and protector, could I suggest a different arrangement, say, for instance, a wedding trip to the West Indies?"

Then Helen kissed John squarely on his nose and exclaimed, "Honey, I've always wanted to go to the West Indies."

Sayings of Mrs. Solomon

By HELEN ROWLAND

Salesmanship Versus Courtship

VERILY, verily, my Daughter, the way of a man with a maid filled Solomon with wonder, when the world was young and simple.

* * *

How, then, would the way of a modern lover baffle and confound him!

* * *

For, behold, the lover of yesterday was filled with doubt and subtility and applesauce. But the lover of today is filled with self-assurance and nonchalance and HOT AIR!

HELEN ROWLAND

With caution and trembling and much finesse, did the lover of yesterday seek the way to a damsel's heart.

But the lover of today maketh no DETOURS. For in his bright psychology, the shortest distance between two points is that between the introduction and the first kiss.

Go to. He approached her not with humility and burnt offerings and stammered petitions. He playeth not the "devoted slave."

Nay, as a Conquering Hero, he dasheth up in his motor car, with the heralding of horns and the blowing of trumpets, as one who saith, "Attention, Woman! Look who's here!"

* * *

He wasteth not his words in extolling her charms and praising her virtues; neither in telling her how wonderful she is.

* * *

Nay, verily. He putteth up a good SELLING talk. He telleth her how wonderful HE is!

His line is not "Love me—or I suffer! Kiss me—or I die!"

* * *

It is "Love me—or you'll be sorry! Kiss me—or think what you'll MISS!"

* * *

He doth not say, "Oh, Beloved, thy kisses are sweeter than myrrh and frankincense and warmer than a Bodenheim novel!"

* * *

Nay, he commendth his own kisses, saying, "Be of good cheer, oh Little One! For the kiss which I now bestow upon thee is no amateur product, but the work of an artist, who knoweth women. Yea, it is de luxe!"

* * *

Doth she scorn him? He is not cast down, but only amazed at her blindness. He doth not chide her, but only warneth her sorrowfully that she will regret her folly, when her "chance" hath slipped.

* * *

He calleth her attention to his perfect technique; he hinteth darkly at his prowess among women. He painteth himself as an "opportunity." He filleth her with propaganda.

* * *

Verily, verily, in the time of Solomon, the way of a man with a maid may have been mysterious. But the way of a modern lover is the way of an insurance agent with a good prospect. For, alas, courtship hath become SALESMANSHIP! SELAH.

Keeping of Household Books

THIS is an age of varied interests and rapidly moving days. Housekeeping and family living conditions have changed considerably. An address book used to contain the addresses only of our most intimate friends and relatives. In some instances addresses of important tradesmen were added. Today the address book of even the ordinary person is quite formidable, as all the addresses are supplemented with the telephone numbers, apartment numbers, clubs or other places where the persons may be found when not at home.

To be useful this book must be accurately kept and the numbers verified occasionally to be kept up to date. The busy housekeeper keeps her tradesmen's addresses in a separate book for greater convenience. It is often kept in the kitchen with pencil and order blanks attached. Ordering is done in many homes almost entirely over the phone for household supplies, so it is very necessary the book should be correct in every way.

The busy woman also depends upon her engagement book, kept by herself or her social secretary, to keep her day's schedule running without a hitch. The addresses of the places where she is to be at a certain hour, are written beside the appointment hour so that no time is lost hunting up numbers and wondering how you "get there!"

Shopping books in which household needs are jotted down as they occur, should be kept handy. Then on shopping day one won't have to scout around and try to remember what the needs are. Some women even classify the needs into a "must have" column, and the things that can wait in another column. A wonderfully handy way of doing things. Then, of course, no modern house is complete without some sort of a budget book. Some of us keep the book according to regular methods, others have their own ways of apportioning the moneys and arrive at the same point by a different route.

The silver and linen book is another valuable book if there is a large stock on hand of each thing. When purchases were made, when stock was renewed, and just what is on hand gives the housekeeper a definite idea of her possessions. This may not seem important if one is handling the things entirely themselves, but if servants assist in their care it is a necessity to know how much stuff we own. Laundries are apt to lose and injure linens, so the things sent should be carefully listed and checked over when they come back before the bill is paid.

In many families an automobile book is kept and if well kept is often a most interesting record of what it really costs to keep a machine.

Horoscopes

Sunday, June 2

SUNDAY'S horoscope shows important developments in affairs of church and state as well as through personal labor and intellectual enterprises of various nature. It is a time for application and industry in the chosen line of endeavor, despite several obstacles or delays to be overcome. Perseverance brings suitable returns. Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a year of achievement in many directions, through enterprise, perseverance, patience and industry. Important rewards are assured, attended by much personal happiness and gratification.

A child born on this day may be industrious and determined as well as enterprising and aggressive, and these resources of character may win it a place and personal satisfaction in life.

Prayer moves the hand that rules the Universe.—Proverb.

Monday, June 3

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is for a day of unusual enterprise and progress despite many intrigues and complications. Important and sudden change seems imminent, attended by high initiative, but handicapped by some trivial financial hazards. New contracts should flourish, but be wary as to fraud or subtlety. Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of progress and advancement attained by initative, bold resourcefulness and probable radical change, with new contracts or agreements. There are some slight financial hazards and also a menace of fraud or subtle danger. Employment is under good sway.

A child born on this day may be ingenious and versatile in many directions, with an original bent toward research or experiment in the finer forces of nature or mind. It may also be enterprising and aggressive and should make a fine success in life.

One thing is forever good; that one thing is Success.—Emerson.

Household Hints

Moths will avoid rugs and carpets under which a plentiful amount of alum has been sprinkled. If a corner of the carpets is attacked, spread a wet cloth over the affected spot and iron with a hot iron. The steam will kill larvae as well as eggs.

Fresh milk mixed with an equal quantity of turpentine will freshen shabby oilcloth. The mixture should be rubbed in with a soft cloth and afterward polished with a cotton duster which has been slightly warmed.

Grease stains can be removed from wicker chairs by rubbing them with benzine or methylated spirit.

Each to Her Hobby, with Love Always the Goal

HIGH above all other birds flies the eagle, straight into the sun. His the highest, most inaccessible nest; his fairly and truly the title, "King of Birds." None so strong or so brave and none so loyal to his mate and ungainly offspring.

And the meek, quiet little dove watches the eagle and fears him and wishes that he, too, could be an eagle. Only he has neither the strength nor the might of the eagle. Yet he, too, is loving and loyal, jealously guarding his nest and mate.

As far apart as the poles, these two, yet close as can be in the common bond of love.

Even as girls are nowadays. The eagle soars to the high and far places in her plane, joyously reveling in the freedom and glory of soaring straight into the sun should she feel so disposed. Yet she, too, is loving and loyal and really a dove at heart. And the dove-girl envies and delights in the daring of the eagle-girl, yet she would not exchange places with her, for she fears the dizzy heights to which the eagle soars.

Dove and Eagle! Totally unlike, yet one at heart when it comes to love. The dove an eagle in her care and watchfulness over her loved ones; the eagle a dove in her tender, caressing love for the beloved.

So whichever you are—eagle or dove—be satisfied. For Love is always the same, everywhere, from the biggest to the least.

Brixton Interview Is Ended and Guests Prepare to Leave

LILLIAN and I exchanged questioning glances as Samuel Brixton made a casual and apparently unembarrassed exit, following his defeat in the matter of the $20,000 payment to Marion.

"Can he possibly be as nonchalant as he appears?" I asked.

"Yes, every whit," she answered with a smile. "He has a skin like a rhino, and besides, you must remember he's just saved $20,000. He's made the grand gesture, for Helen's sake, he can tell her it's all right, and know that I will back him up, and he's that much ahead. As for that 'release' thing he wanted me to sign, I don't believe he ever thought of that himself. His half-brother evidently judged me by himself and wanted to make sure I wouldn't come down on Sam for more when I once accepted the $20,000 for Marion."

I looked at her in astonishment.

"So that's what you think the release meant?" I asked.

"Pretty nearly," she answered with a disregard for the possible ramifications of Charles Owen's plans which made me yearn to shake her soundly. "Of course, Owen and he may have something else up their sleeves—probably Sam owed Tom more than twenty thousand and wanted to protect himself from any possible demand in the future. If he only knew how safe he was! I'm sure Marion will feel the way I do about it, when I muster up courage to tell her."

"Don't tell her," I advised earnestly. "If Mr. Brixton is sincere in his desire to give her the money, it will be time enough to tell her about it when she comes of age. And we've done the only possible thing now, in protecting her interests by refusing to sign such a release as that was."

"Thanks to you," Lillian said, gratefully. "If Sam had turned on the tremolo stop about Helena sufficiently, and I had been alone, I think I'd have signed that thing and not taken the money."

"You would have done no such thing," I told her scornfully, but secretly I was not so sure. The careless manner in which she had voiced the very theory I held—that the debt of Samuel Brixton to Marion's father far exceeded the sum he had offered—showed me how indifferent she was to the whole financial side of the transaction.

She rose from the couch and coming over to me laid her arm across my shoulders affectionately.

"You bully old anchor!" she said, then moved away hurriedly as is her wont when she has shown a flash of emotion. But her tone and the look in her eyes were worth a volume of an ordinary woman's protestations of gratitude.

"I suppose we had better go up and speed our parting guests," she said, and hurriedly assenting, I went with her into the hall, where we met Helen Brixton and Charles Owen just coming from the tennis courts followed by the four young people who evidently had just finished the disputed game.

Just before we reached them, I saw Ronald draw his mother aside and say something to her in a voice almost inaudible. She nodded brightly, and smiled as if much pleased, and then Ronald crossed swiftly to us and looked appealingly at Lillian.

"May I speak to you a second, Mrs. Underwood?" he asked boyishly.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Few Pounds Loss Is No Cause for Alarm

NOT so very long ago I had a letter from a young woman who had become utterly discouraged about her health. In spite of all she could do, her flesh melted away and her mind became more and more despondent. Her weight was really about twenty pounds less than average at her age and height.

DR. COPELAND

What advice can be given such a person? What could I say to you if you had similar symptoms? Suppose I try to tell you as I told her.

In the first place, you must have an abundance of fruits and vegetables. You need all sorts of green vegetables; lettuce, cabbage, endive, spinach, as well as tomatoes, peas, beans and similar things. All the fruits, especially oranges, will do you good. An abundance of milk is a necessity.

I venture to say you do not breathe as deeply as you should. Your food will not do you any good unless you open the lungs and get a full supply of oxygen. You must practice deep breathing. Give yourself blowing exercises. It is not the blowing that does any good, but in order to blow you must fill your lungs with air.

These are general directions, but I am impressed with the idea that an outdoor life of some sort will do more good than anything else. Get out on a farm, wear a farmerette costume, and get close to Nature. Perhaps you can find a place on a chicken farm. It doesn't make any difference what you do, so long as you are in the open. Gardening, work in an orchard, anything that gives you a chance to use your muscles, and at the same time to occupy your mind will be helpful in building you up.

If you are in the condition of the lady who wrote me, I am sorry for you. But don't be sorry for yourself. Exert yourself in a physical way and keep away from the office work that is so annoying to you. With general improvement in health, your nervous system will respond.

It is mentally depressing to be seriously below par physically. Nobody can do work if there is constant worry over health.

Sometimes it is necessary to make a regular business of getting well and strong. It is well worth while to do this. You cannot take chances on your welfare.

As I have said, don't sit down and feel sorry for yourself. Don't envy good health. Get out and acquire it for yourself!

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

The Bridal Party

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. Will you please tell me who should be seated at the head of the bridal table? Some people think the bride and groom, or the parents of the bride, with the bride on the right and the groom on the left, and some say if there are priests present, they should be placed at the head.

2. Is it appropriate for the whole bridal party to have their photographs taken, or is it not being done?

3. Is it correct to have four bridesmaids in the bridal party without ushers?

A READER.

IF there is only one table, the bride and groom sit together at one side of the table and the bride's mother, who is the hostess of the occasion, sits opposite. The bride sits on the right of the groom, whether there is a special bridal table, or whether the bridal party and guests sit at one table.

On the right of the bride's mother is the groom's father, since he is the man guest of honor. The priest or clergyman or whoever performs the ceremony sits on the left of the bride's mother. On the right of the bride's father is the groom's mother, the woman guest of honor.

2. This is as the bride wishes. Sometimes, usually indeed, the bride and groom have their photographs taken together, and then with the members of their wedding party.

3. Yes, if the bride and groom wish this. But a bridal party of this size would indicate a formal, rather large wedding, and this kind of wedding needs ushers to seat the guests.

Don't Invite Him In!

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. What is the correct way to thank a young man for a luncheon engagement? The young man is very nice to me, but he has not taken me out previously.

2. Because of early rising, my parents retired at 10:30. I would like to invite the boy with whom I have spent the evening to come in and enjoy a few sandwiches and coffee, which only take a few minutes to prepare. But would it be correct?

3. Do you approve of my stationery?

D. K.

SOMETHING like this we may say when someone has invited us to luncheon: "Thank you so much for a delightful party," or "I had such a happy time at luncheon. Thank you so much for asking me," or "It was so kind of you to ask me to luncheon, and I had such a nice time."

2. All young ladies want to have someone in authority say that this is "correct," but Mrs. Grundy has determined that this hour is too late. And especially if the habits of the family mean that this will be inconvenient. And after all, half after 10 isn't such a terribly early retiring hour!

3. I like it especially. It has distinction, is dignified, of a fine shade of cream and of an excellent size for your interesting handwriting. I recommend that you do not use abbreviations on your envelope, and that you change the ending so that you will not use "I remain." Also don't write your name slantingly, in your signature. Your spacing is perfect.

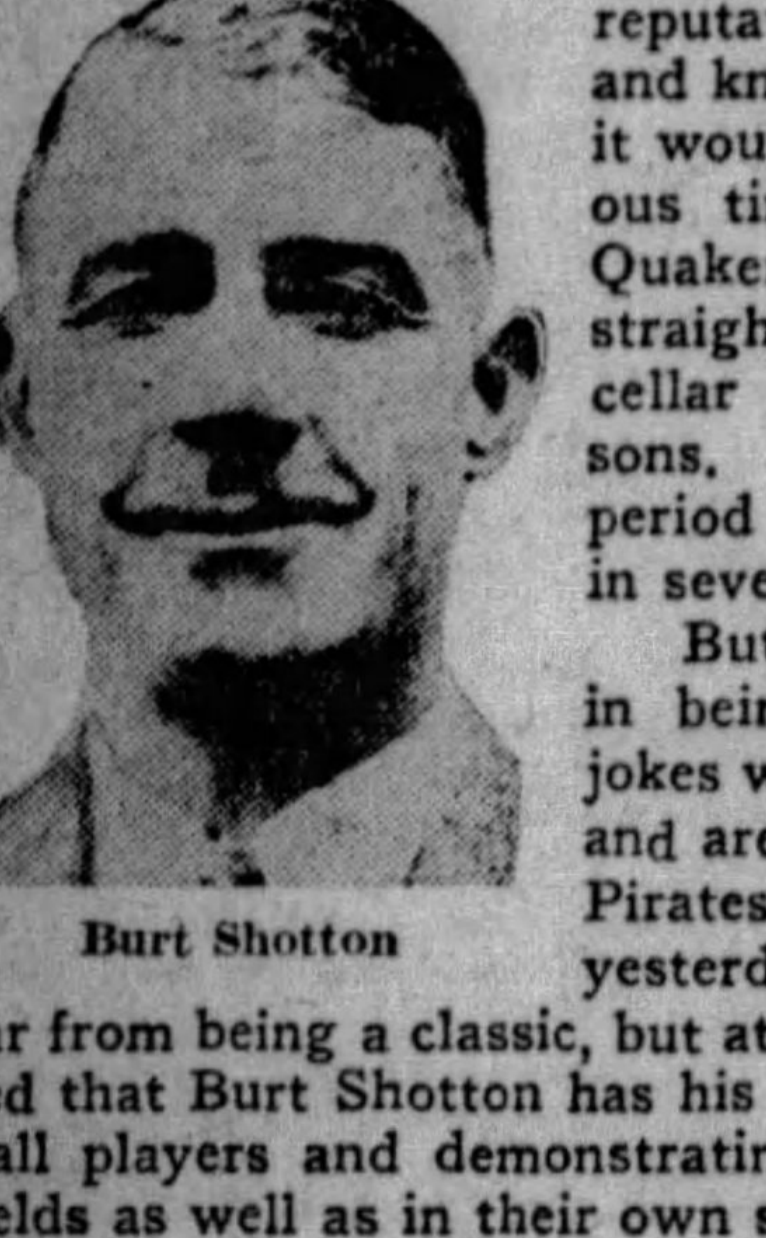
REDS DONATE HALF OF CARDINAL WINS

WHEN a ball club has fought its way through the toughest opposition in the National League to the actual pennant leadership, it's a hard jolt to the pride of that aggregation and its followers to have a team with the reputation of the Phillies come along and knock it out of first place. Rather, it would have been a jolt at any previous time in the last decade, as the Quakers have been tailenders for three straight years, and have finished in the cellar seven times in the last 10 seasons. Their best windups during that period were one in sixth place and two in seventh.



Burt Shotton

But right now, there is no disgrace in being upset by the former league jokes who have stepped out of character and are playing first-division ball. The Pirates were not up to their standard yesterday, it is true, and the game was far from being a classic, but at the same time it must be admitted that Burt Shotton has his men acting in the main like real ball players and demonstrating that they can hit on foreign fields as well as in their own small park.

NO DOUBT, the Phils are playing and hitting over their heads right now, and will sink later. For one thing, their pitchers will hardly be able to hold out under the strain of being worked so often. The club has played only 36 games, yet Willoughby has pitched in 13; Benge, Sweetland and Collins in 10 each, and McGraw, Elliott and Roy in nine each.

Eventually, the grind will tell, and when the team is no longer hitting at its abnormal gait the Philadelphians probably will drop. But for the present, the Phils are formidable opponents. What they did to the Bucs yesterday was only a continuation of what they have been doing to all other teams. They have won 12 of their last 17 games and their club batting average up to today is .323.

IT HAD looked as if the Bucs were firmly set to stop the Quaker left-hand attack by opposing it with left-hand pitching, the logical move under the circumstances, but Larry French was unequal to the contract.

This was shown in the third inning when Charley Klein, the southside swinger recruited from Fort Wayne last fall, socked a home run into the upper tier of the right field stand. Seemingly, they all look alike to Klein these days. Yesterday's homer was his twelfth of the season and gave him the leadership of both major leagues, Lou Gehrig, Melvin Ott and Chick Hafey being tied for second place.

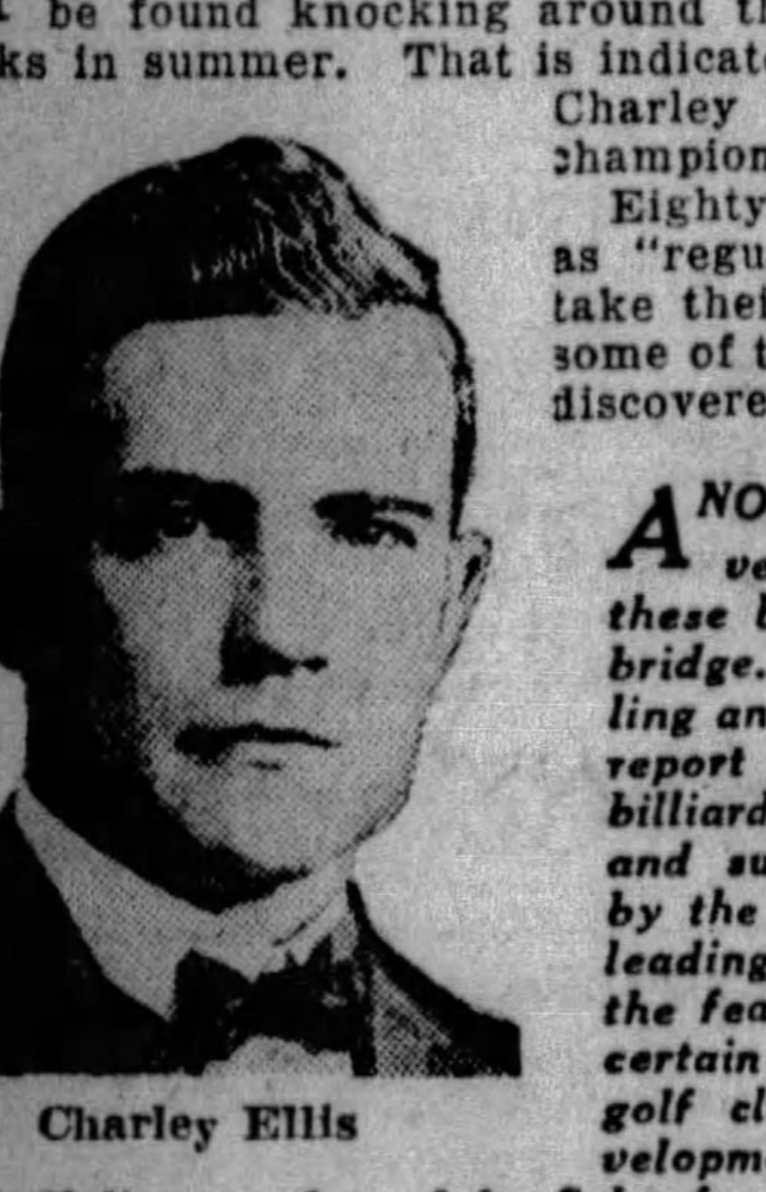
Larry French

WHETHER French's slump has been due to his getting too much rest between games or to some other reason the fact remains that after going the route in brilliant style in three straight games he has not lasted six innings in any of his last three starts. Perhaps Bush will have better luck with his left-hand program with Jess Petty going to the hill today. Petty has yet to pitch a full game on the home grounds. In fact, he has gone the distance only twice this season. The Pirate team, as a whole, is likely to take a marked brace after yesterday's defeat, and the remainder of the series may bring a different story.

BUT for the fact that Cincinnati is not playing anything like major league ball against St. Louis this spring, the Pirates would not have been knocked out of first place yesterday. The Cardinals have won 26 games up to date, and exactly half of their victories have been scored over the Reds.

Of the 15 games played between these two clubs this season, Cincinnati has won only two, and the Cards owe their presence at the top of the ladder to no factor other than the soft picking they have enjoyed in taking 13 games from the Reds. The last nine of these 13 victories have been scored in succession. Against the other clubs, the Cards have been worsted by the Bucs seven games to two; have merely broken even with the Cubs and Phillies; gained only the slight edge of two games to one against New York and Boston, and grabbed three from the Robins while the latter were in their long losing streak.

MOST of the inveterate billiard players of the cooler seasons, may be found knocking around the gutta percha pellet on the golf links in summer. That is indicated by an informal survey made by Charley Ellis, former world three-cushion champion, in his Diamond street cue academy. Eighty per cent of those whom he classes as "regulars" on his tables, the men who take their billiards seriously, are golfers—some of them very good ones, too—Ellis has discovered by a thorough inquiry.



Charley Ellis

ANOTHER fact gleaned from the investigation is that more than half of these billiardist-golfers are devotees of bridge. According to Ellis, Christ Dimling and other billiard room owners here report nearly the same condition. That billiards and golf team up well as winter and summer recreations seems proved by the efficiency shown by some of the leading exponents of both games, despite the fears expressed some years back by certain top-notch cueists that swinging golf clubs was detrimental to the development or retention of a delicate balk-line stroke. Jake Schaefer plays a lot of golf and plays it well, and so does Welker Cochran.

JOHNNY LAYTON, three-cushion champion, and Otto Reiselt, one of his predecessors, also are unusually proficient on the links. And these are only a few of many examples. Right here in Pittsburgh are the Crookstons—James B. and James W.—holders of the Western Pennsylvania father-and-son golf championship for three years, James W., the son, being state amateur champion.

The elder Crookston, who owns a billiard academy in East Liberty, is one of the country's best amateur balk-line billiard players, and the son plays far better than ordinary. In Ellis' opinion, it is the fact that both games are chiefly a question of stroke and patience that pairs them as the choice of so many for recreation.

YOU may leave it to the dyed-in-the-wool baseball fans to remember incidents that critics and even the players themselves sometimes

PANTHER ACES MAKE GOOD SHOWINGS

PHILADELPHIA, June 1.—(AP.)—Stanford University's brawny band of athletes, coached by "Dink" Templeton, dominated the qualifying trials of the Intercollegiate A. A. A. A. track and field championships and are favorites to retain their title in the finals today.

By capturing 14 places in the preliminaries, four more than Pennsylvania, eastern "dark horse," the Cardinals from Palo Alto demonstrated that there was no ballyhoo about the advance notices of their prowess. As a result they are overwhelming favorites to romp off with their third successive team championship in the finals and thereby give the Far West its eighth triumph over the eastern talent in a period of nine years.

So sensationally did Stanford's stars perform in the field events, their specialties, that it seemed they are almost assured of sufficient points to clinch the title without lifting an implement tomorrow, since yesterday afternoon's achievements all stand.

ROTHERT SETS MARK

Harlow Rothert, Cardinal all around star, turned in the day's only record performance when he hurled the 16-pound shot 50 feet 3 inches, eclipsing by two inches the mark of his team mate, Eric Krenz, who did no better than fourth in the tests in defense of his title. Krenz, however, set the pace in the discus while another Cardinal, Leo Kibby, topped the field in the javelin with a fine heave of 204 feet 7 inches.

Altogether, Stanford qualified men in eight of the 11 events in which trials were held. The Cardinals placed three each in the discus and high hurdles, two each in the shot put and javelin, one each in the broad jump, 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash and 440 run.

In the battle for intersectional honors, Stanford will have considerable aid from Southern California, which qualified nine men in spite of the elimination of Charley Borah, former champion, in the 220-yard dash, and Vic Williams in the quarter mile. New York University, eastern indoor champions, made a good showing with eight qualifiers, tying with Yale, but Violet hopes for honors rest chiefly upon two half-mile aces, Phil Edwards, the champion, and Fred Veit, who outdid his teammate today by running his heat in 1:57 6-10.

BORAH DEFEATED

The defeat of Borah, who failed to recover his form after an injury several weeks ago on the coast, left the Pacific coast's hopes for sprint honors up to Hec Dyer, Stanford sophomore, who qualified handily in both dashes.

Dyer was beaten by John Harwood, of Syracuse, by an eyelash in his heat of the 100, in which Jimmy Daley, of Holy Cross, set the pace for the field with a 9 8-10 performance, but the rangy Stanford youth came back in the 220 to win his trial and share the best time of the day, 21 8-10, with Karl Wildersmuth, of Georgetown. Borah was fourth in the first heat, won by Kent, of Colgate, in 21 9-10.

The complete list of qualifying places scored: Stanford, 14 Pennsylvania, 10 Southern California, 9; Yale and New York University, 8 each; Harvard, 6; Georgetown and Syracuse, 5 each; Cornell, Colgate and Pittsburgh, 4 each; Dartmouth and California, 3 each; Holy Cross, Bates, Brown, Penn State, Michigan State, Princeton, Boston College, Haverford, Swarthmore and Maine, 1 each.

BOWEN BEST IN 440

Pete Bowen, sensational University of Pittsburgh flier, after qualifying in the century, returned to the track to run the fastest heat in the quarter mile. The Pitt star defeated Engle, Yale hope, in his heat of the 440, and was clocked at 0:48 2-10 seconds. He ran the 100 in better than 10 seconds.

Everette Utterback, Panther Negro broad jumper, placed second in the qualifying trials of the broad jump with a leap of 23 feet 5⅛ inches.

Don Gwinn, another Pitt man, placed in the hammer throw, which Black, Maine's Olympic star, dominated. Gwinn hurled the iron ball 148 feet ¾ inch to qualify.

N. BRADDOCK WINS TITLE

BUTLER, Pa., June 1.—North Braddock High School romped away with the championship of the W. P. I. A. L. on the athletic field here yesterday afternoon, defeating Butler, 5 to 3, in a fast, hard-fought battle.

N. Kliskey, hurling shutout ball, held the Butler hitters in the hollow of his hand over the greater part of the game, keeping the locals' eight bingles well scattered. He fanned 11 Butler batters and issued but two walks.

The winners collected all their runs in the first three innings. They scored two in the first, one in the second and two more in the third. Greene relieved Sykes in the box in the second and held the winners to four hits over the remainder of the game. Frank Hollock collected three doubles in four trips up.

SCHENLEY WINS

Defeating Fifth Avenue in the final game of the regular Section I, City League, schedule, Schenley High went into a tie with Westinghouse for the section championship. The Bellefielders downed the Uptowners 13 to 4 yesterday.

Westinghouse and Schenley will meet in a play-off contest next Tuesday to decide the sectional champion and for the right to meet Langley, probable Section II victor, for the city title.

Dormont downed Mt. Lebanon 6 to 4 yesterday at Dormont. Shady Side Academy was beaten by Westinghouse 11 to 4.

DR. GEORGE T. GREGG

Dr. Gregg, local dentist, leaves Monday for Montreal to sail for England, en route to Scotland, where he will be a member of the United States and Canada seniors' team which will compete against Great Britain in an international tournament at St. Andrews, July 5. Above Dr. Gregg is seen making a pitch and run shot.

ZABISH EASY FOR PHILLIPS; GO STOPPED

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Except for gameness and an intense desire to carry the fighting in the face of a merciless barrage of counter blows, Augie (Young) Zabish, lightweight comeback, of Beltzhoover, failed to shape up as a headliner against Tug Phillips, of Erie, in the scheduled 10-round main bout in the Moose Temple ring last night, and Referee Joe Keally stopped the uneven contest early in the ninth round and awarded it to Phillips on a technical knockout.

Keally could have stopped it a round or two before without hurting anyone's feelings, for Zabish was outclassed in everything but bulldog determination to stick it out to the finish. And Zabish might have lasted the route but for Keally's humane action.

COMEBACK FAILS

Zabish, who recently returned to the ring after a layoff of five years, and startled the fans by winning windups in Johnstown and Cumberland, was the same old wild swinger of yore, and after the first two rounds never had a chance against the more conservative Phillips, who continually bored his way to close quarters and there chugged away with short punches to the head and body. Zabish's best round was the second, in which he tossed right hand punches from all angles and nailed Tug beautifully a number of times on the side of the head. His aggressiveness won him this round, his only one of the fight.

Augie's left eye was cut in the third round and his nose and lips began to bleed in the fourth and he was a crimson mass from then on to the end, only his earnest, wild rushes and futile swinging keeping the referee from heeding the cries of ringsiders to stop the fight long before he took such action. Augie was a mark for Tug as the latter feinted him in, sidestepped his wild rushes and swings and connected solidly with both hands. At the finish, Zabish won cheers for his game stand, but his showing was a keen disappointment to his follow-

SIX TO START IN FAIRMOUNT

COLLINSVILLE, Ill., June 1.—(AP.)—With only six horses named as starters, one of the smallest fields in the history of the Fairmount Derby will go to the post today for the fourth annual running of the Collinsville feature of $25,000 added over the one-mile and one-quarter route.

Andy Martin Wins Over Eddie Reed

ERIE, Pa., June 1.—(AP.)—Andy Martin, of Boston, won a decision here last night in 10 rounds with Eddie Reed, of Philadelphia. The boys put up a fair fight.

STAR PLAYER

Dr. Gregg, who is 55, began playing golf at the Pittsburgh Country Club in 1908. Today he is a four-stroke handicap player as a member of the Oakmont Country Club. He is the present Western Pennsylvania senior champion.

LOCALS QUALIFY AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, June 1.—(AP.)—A band of athletes from Froebel High of Gary, Ind., swooped down on Stagg Field yesterday and made off with 13 of the qualifying places in eight events of the University of Chicago's twenty-fifth annual interscholastic track and field championships.

The Froebel aggregation, second to Ft. Collins, Colo., last year in the high school division, came back apparently equipped with what will be required to win the meet. Ft. Collins, ranked as a possibility to repeat this year, brought but five men through the early tests, all of them in the field events. Ft. Collins won last year's meet largely by virtue of a sweep in the hammer throw which netted 31 points. This event, however, has been removed from the list of events.

The 100 yard dash promises a sensational final totay. Three men, Foulkes, Muncie, Ind., Swift, of Lewis, and Clark High, Spokane, Washn., and Metcalfe, Negro star from Tilden Tech, Chicago, each flashed over the course in :09.9 seconds.

Two Pittsburgh high school stars qualified for the finals, Cooper, Westinghouse high jumper and Milligan, Peabody 100 yard star, reaching the finals in their respective events. Peabody also has mile relay team in the running today.

Giants Hit Hard; Beat St. Bonaventure

OLEAN, N. Y., June 1.—(AP.)—The New York Giants defeated St. Bonaventure College in an exhibition game here yesterday afternoon, 11 to 5. Hogan was the leading batter for McGraw's club with two doubles, a triple and a walk in five trips to the plate. The score:

Giants ...... 0 1 4 1 0 2 1 0 2—11
St. Bon'v'ture 0 1 0 0 0 0 1 0 3— 5

Keech Presented Checks at Banquet

INDIANAPOLIS, June 1.—(AP).—Checks totaling $31,900 were given to Ray Keech of Philadelphia, here last night at a banquet held for automobile race drivers who participated in yesterday's 500-mile contest.

Louis Meyer, High Gate, Calif., who finished second yesterday, won $19,900.

Jimmy Gleason, Philadelphia, third, received a total of $7,000; Carl Barchese, Milwaukee, fourth, $4,200; Fred Winnai, Philadelphia, fifth, $3,500; W. H. (Speed) Gardner, Philadelphia, sixth, $2,200; Louis Chiron, Paris, France, seventh, $1,800; Billy Arnold, Chicago, eighth, $1,600; Cliff Bergere, Los Angeles, ninth, $1,500; Fred Frame, Los Angeles, tenth, $2,500. Frame won $1,400 for tenth place and $1,100 for leading the race 11 laps.

It was announced that a recheck had shown that Fred Winnai, Philadelphia, had finished fifth instead of Speed Gardner, also of Philadelphia. Gardner was dropped to sixth place.

DRIVING

Dr. Gregg is not an exceptionally long driver, but he sends the ball whistling straight down the fairway and plays his average round in 75. He has won the United States Dental Association championship in 1923, '25, '27 and '28 and was the runnerup in '26.

Polish Falcons Hold Annual Track Meet

KLEIN, O'DOUL PASS GEHRIG AND RUTH

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

Let's have a few words today, folks, concerning the two strong-armed Quakers who yesterday hammered Our Pirates into second place. If Charles (Chuck) Klein and Frank (Lefty) O'Doul will arise and advance to front and center they will hear some things that probably will interest them.

In the first place, these two stalwarts yesterday moved out beyond Lou Gehrig and Babe Ruth in the matter of home runs. Before the Phillies left the City of Brotherly Love to invade William Penn's more exclusive domain Chuck and Frank in the order named were tied with Lou and Babe, in the order named.

The Hoosier kid and San Francisco's Native Son in Burt Shotton's batting order each rang up homers yesterday as the Quakers smeared the Pirates, 10 to 7. Inasmuch as the two round-trippers were worth five runs it is an easy matter to discern that these wallops had a big bearing on the game.

KLEIN'S BLOW LONG

Klein's tremendous sock into the upper right field stands rang up No. 12 for the youngster and placed him in undisputed leadership of the two major leagues in home run production. O'Doul strolled up to the barrier a little later and recorded his tenth home run with a wallop into the lower deck.

It is altogether possible that by the time Labor Day and Hay Fever time arrive Chuck and Lefty will not be hobnobbing with Lou and Babe, but certainly the two lads must sense a feeling of triumph today as they look at the paper and see that they are ahead of the royal sons of swat. It is just another victory for democracy, fellow citizens, when you realize that the regal pair have been eclipsed.

And it may interest you to know that Chuck and Lefty will be at the Oakland Orchard this afternoon attempting an encore of their home run act. The second game of the series is on, and needless to say the Freebooters will strive to pick up the lost ground.

Manager Bush intends to send Jess Petty to the slab, while Manager Shotton, of the invading host, probably will rely upon Ray Benge, one of his best right-hand bets.

Maybe Petty will have more luck with the Quakers than did his southpaw brother, Larry French. The Portland phenom was as wild as a March hare for some reason, and when Power-house Klein belted his terrific homer into one of the longest sections of the right field stands, Larry hit the trail that leads to the shower baths.

DAWSON BEATEN

Joe Dawson replaced French and the aviator-hurler was splendid from the third to the eighth, when Earl Sheely made a poor throw to second and put Joe in a bad hole. Thompson's double followed to score two runs, and as the game was

His iron play is one of the strong features of Dr. Gregg's game, and he is counting heavily on it for the St. Andrews matches. Dr. Gregg, incidentally, was a star baseball pitcher in his college days at Tacoma (Wash.) College and the University of Pennsylvania.

Champion Dundee's Manager Offers $10,000 for Buck McTiernan

How good a fighter is Jack (Buck) McTiernan, the pride of Swissvale, who has been coming along with such rapid strides recently?

Well, Max Waxman, manager of Joe Dundee, of Baltimore, welterweight champion of the world, thinks so well of Buck that, while in town yesterday to sign for Dundee to box Joe Simonich, of Butte, Mont., at the Meyers Brothers' Bowl in North Braddock, he offered Bunny Buntach, manager of McTiernan, $10,000 for Buck's contract. Bunny took a few moments to think it over and declined with thanks.

"If he's worth that much to you, he's worth as much to me—and perhaps more," was his answer to the proposition.

Coming from the manager of a world champion, such praise is high praise indeed for McTiernan, who has been setting the local woods on fire. Waxman saw Buck fight in Cleveland while the latter was under the management of Eddie Mead there before going with Buntach and was very much taken with the promise he displayed. Properly brought along, he thinks Buck has excellent prospects of becoming middleweight champion of the world.

BYE BYE BUCKEYE

TOLEDO, June 1.—Garland Buckeye, lefthand pitcher, was released to Atlanta of the Southern Association, and Infielder Eddie Taylor to the Canton Central League club, by the Toledo Mudhens yesterday. Both have been sent out on option.

KOEHLER HITS HARD

TOLEDO, June 1.—(AP.)—Led by Pip Koehler, who smashed a double and four singles in five trips to the plate, Toledo of the American Association collected 20 hits and defeated the Chicago White Sox, 9 to 8, in an exhibition game here yesterday.

HELEN WILLS ATTAINS FINAL

PARIS, June 1.—(AP.)—Helen Wills today entered the final round of the French tennis championships in which she is defending her women's singles crown, defeating Miss Eileen Bennett, English star, in the semi-finals by scores of 6-2, 7-5.

Due partly to a close line decision in her favor which caused her deliberately to throw away two points, the American queen of the courts had a fairly narrow escape from losing a set for the first time since the English championships of 1927. Although there never was any question of Miss Wills' ultimate victory, the English player achieved the rare feat of forcing a set to deuce against the champion of three nations when she made a courageous bid for the second set.

The speed and pace of the driving was superior to four-fifths of the men's singles seen in this tournament.

America's first ranking men and women players now were its only representatives still in the running as Francis T. Hunter was eliminated shortly before by Jean Borodtra, of France, by scores of 6-8, 10-8, 4-6, 8-6, 6-1, in a quarter-final match in which the American had been leading by two sets to one when play was halted by darkness yesterday. Bill Tilden, booked to meet Rene LaCoste, of France, in the semi-finals later today, and Miss Wills were the sole surviving United States hopes.

W. O. W. KEEPS LEAGUE LEAD

Rudison pitched a stellar game for W. O. W. last evening, letting down the Soho Board of Trade with one hit, and the W. O. W. outfit took a firmer hold on the Pittsburgh Central League leadership, winning by a 3-to-1 score.

The Class A champions scored all of their runs in the first inning, when Joe Cholko walked, Jedinak doubled and Johnny Cholko hit a home run. Bailey allowed only six hits.

Homewood took advantage of five Dormont errors to down the South Hillsmen 7 to 5 in an Inter-County League battle at Dormont last night Gene Gahles and Kestner each had two hits for Homewood.

Tad's Immortal Fight Stories

—By TAD—

(For 30 years, Tad (T. A. Dorgan), one of the greatest cartoonists and sports authorities, covered the "fight game." Shortly before his death, recently, he wrote and illustrated a score of stories describing, in his inimitable style, those ring battles which for thrills and sensationalism were stamped indelibly in his mind. These reminiscences deal not only with fights in which titles were at stake, but also with thrilling affairs staged in private and at the smaller clubs. This story is one of the series. Others will follow.)

On September 6, 1920, in a big open-air arena at Benton Harbor, Mich., Jack Dempsey spilled Billy Miske for the count of 10 after quite an exciting fuss.

Miske, one of the ring's toughest men, was not in good form at this time, but few believed the yarn, thinking it was a stall. Miske had been a great fighter. He tipped the beam at 180 and had the punch of a 200-pounder. There was no TOUGHER man in the ring. He could trade with the best of them and was feared by all.

He was Dempsey's pal in former years. Billy and Jack liked one another and had already done two turns for the fans without losing any teeth. One was a 10-round affair and the other a six. This, however, was before Dempsey had won the heavyweight title.

In 1920, Dempsey was a champion. He had beaten Willard the year before in that sun-baked arena at Toledo.

Here was Dempsey with a title at stake, and, although he was to box his old side-kick, Miske, he could take no chances with his crown.

It had been rumored about that Miske was not himself, that he had some organic trouble, but the firm of Kearns and Dempsey didn't swallow that, fearng it might be just talk.

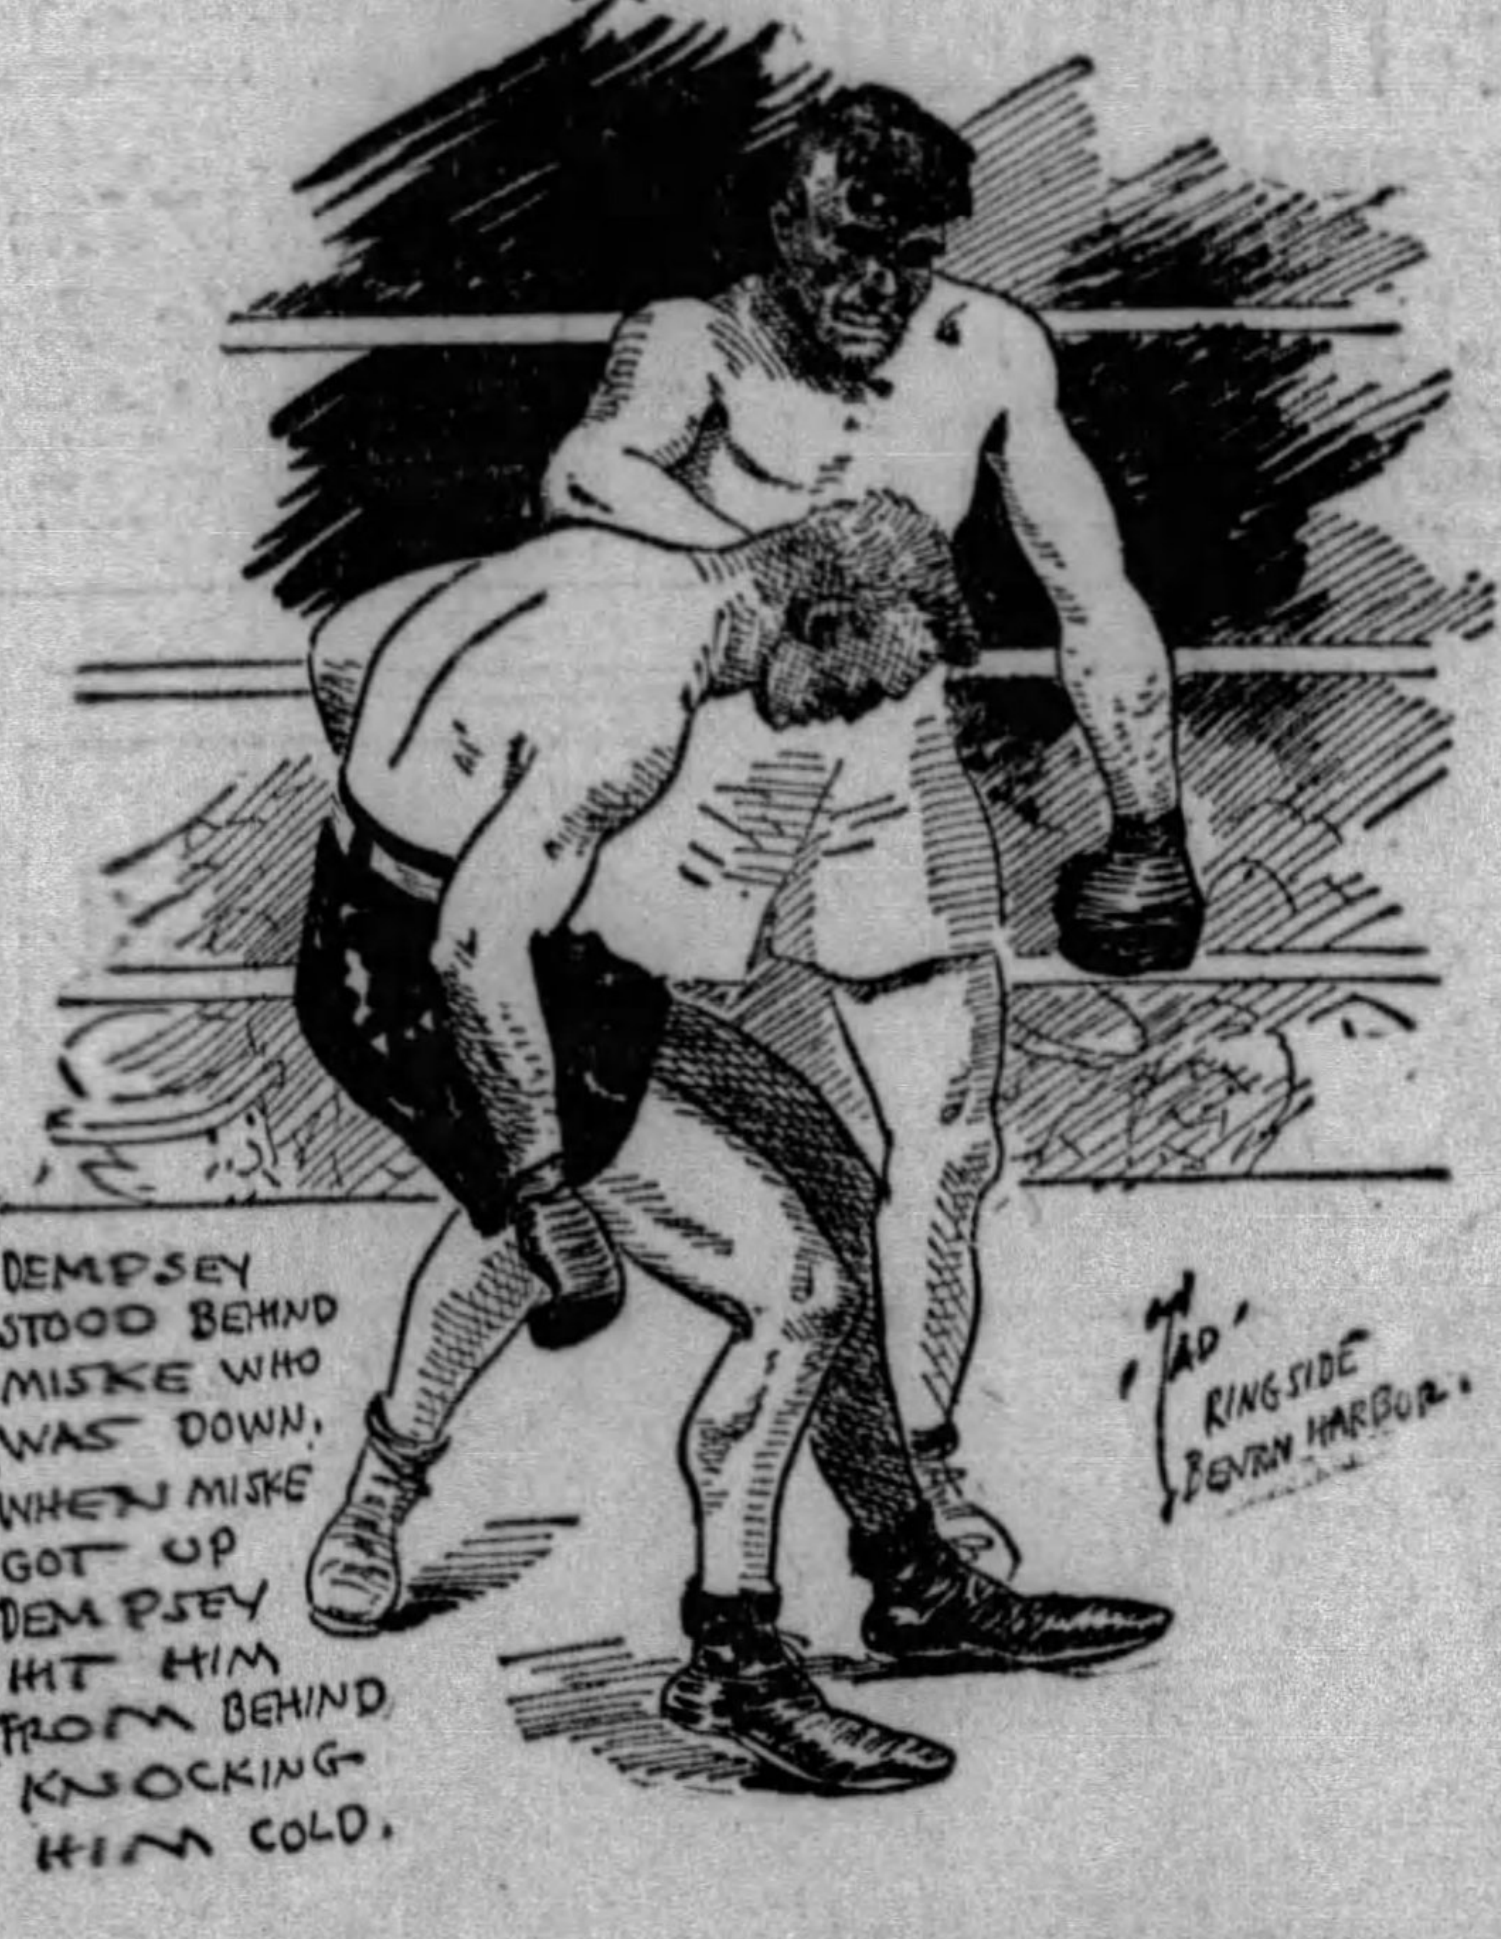
Champions had been tricked before, thought the careful pair. You can't trust any one when there's a title at stake, so Kearns and Dempsey hung up that familiar sign behind their bar:

WE TRUST IN GOD,
ALL OTHERS PAY CASH.

They had their own private referee, Jimmy Dougherty, of Philadelphia, brought on and appointed to officiate, and then went on with the training as usual.

DEMPSEY wasn't quite sure of himself, although he trained hard. He was afraid that after 14 months of idleness he wouldn't be right. He feared his judgment of distance and his ability to step out right at the bell with such a tough customer as Miske.

I was in his dressing room an hour before the fight when a gambler friend of Dempsey's came in and asked Jack if a bet on a K. O. was a good one.



DEMPSEY STOOD BEHIND MISKE WHO WAS DOWN. WHEN MISKE GOT UP DEMPSEY HIT HIM FROM BEHIND KNOCKING HIM COLD.
'TAD' RINGSIDE BENTON HARBOR.

"Well," piped Dempsey through his two days' growth of whiskers, "This Miske is a tough bird. He's a tough fellow. I'm going to step right after him, but he's a TOUGH guy."

At the ringside before the big fight we saw poor old Sam Langford take an unmerciful licking from big Bill Tate in a six-round prelim. Poor Sam, half blind, running second to such a man as Tate. In his prime Sam would have cleaned Tate up in two minutes.

Miske and Dempsey entered and in a jiffy things were all set. They spent the first round feeling one another out. It was mostly dancing, jabbing and clinching.

In the second, Miske walked right over to Dempsey, who was hardly out of his corner, and let fly lefts and rights for the chin. The champion, a bit surprised, let fly with both hands himself and they traded punches for fully half a minute, first one head bouncing back and then the other.

They got out to the center of the ring a bit later and Miske, with all his teeth showing, lowered his head a bit and tore in once again to trade. The pair did trade for a few seconds, and then Dempsey left fly a terrific right that caught Billy under the heart.

It lifted him off the floor and set him on his back. It was an awful clout, but Miske was up at the count of "five," a bit shaken up, but still full of fight. The gong found them trading punches again.

THE third round hadn't gone far before Miske began to show signs of wear. The pace was too fast for Billy, and in the very first mix-up he stopped a left with his chin that sent him on his heels to the ropes.

He stood there a second, dazed. Dempsey, noting his condition, just simply dove head first with a left that landed on Miske's chin. The latter dropped in a heap right by his own corner.

As Referee Dougherty came over to count, Dempsey walked behind his fallen adversary and stood leaning against the ropes.

At the count of "eight" Miske arose, punch-drunk and bleary-eyed and started to put his hands up, thinking that Dempsey was right in front of him.

Instead of that, Dempsey was directly behind him. Dempsey moved a fraction and then let fly a right at Miske's jaw.

The latter coiled up like a rope as he fell in his own corner. There were a few hisses for Dempsey's action, but no other sign of disapproval. Miske didn't move until the count was finished. He was lifted to a chair in his corner, doused with water and given some smelling salts.

He came to then, and, realizing that he had been knocked out hurriedly felt his teeth to see if they were O. K.

COTTON LEADS HORTON SMITH

COULSDON COURT, England, June 1.—(AP.)—Horton Smith, American golf star, was trailing Henry Cotton, British professional, by one hole at the end of the fist 18 holes of a 36-hole match here today.

Fighting keenly, Smith and Cotton played fine golf on their first round. The American professional took the lead on the first hole and was never behind until the eighteenth, where they went to the tee all square. Here the Joplin, Mo., player pitched his second into a bunker and took a 5.

Smith, never having seen the course before, was at a slight disadvantage. His difficulties arose in getting the pace of the greens. Cotton's 71 and Smith's 72 indicated the evenness of the play.

Contests of warmth and color loom outstandingly on this afternoon's program of hostilities for Pittsburgh Tennis Association Inter-Club League followers. Close upon the trail of last week's torrid tilting, today's debates give promise of crystallizing the Upper Division title chase in such fashion that aggregations aiming to attain the acme of the race through latter-season spurts will be confronted by exceedingly formidable tasks.

Heading the card today, Howdy Campbell's College Hill host of Beaver Falls will stage its 1929 debut by invading the Schenley Farms bailiwick of Dave O'Loughlin's champion P. A. A. array. The Winged Head performers opened impressively at the expense of Westinghouse seven days ago, but the Beaver Countians, with Don Reader, Bill Potts and all the rest in trim, refuse to concede ground to the Red and Gray and will seek nothing short of triumph.

Meanwhile at Edgewood, Karl Wolfe and his potent South Hillsmen, overwhelming victors over University Club, will try conclusions with Frank Smith's crack home crew which wrested a close decision from the mighty Stanton Heights delegation on the Heights last week. This engagement, with a Knoche-Hicks tussle in prospect to lead off the list, should prove quite sultry, as should the Stanton Heights-University Club fray on the University rectangles. University Club has strengthened its line-up by the addition of Wally Arensberg, Shady Side Academy ace and former Pittsburgh Center boys' premier, and will be primed to repel visitors.

In Section II, Howard Moore will take his College Avenue combine to Mount Lebanon, with Minnetonka stepping out to Wilkinsburg and Philadelphia Company being entertained by Westinghouse Seconds. The lower loop missed fire to some extent last Saturday, the lone joust played bringing together Mount Lebanon and Westinghouse, but this afternoon all hands will pile into action.

On the general dope, the season seems apt to hold forth tight milling in the secondary sector, for never within the recent past has power appeared more evenly distributed.

ers, who thought he really had "come back" along serious lines.

Phillips weighed 137¾ pounds and Zabish 135.

BELMONT BEATS CORELLI

Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, 149, outpunched Joe Corelli, of Erie, 146½, all the way to win the six-round semi-final, and Jackie Murray, of the Hill, 140¾, repeated his recent knockout victory over Jess Hoak, of McKeesport, 140½, in the second bout, the end coming in the fifth round instead of the first, as before. Hoak went down for a count of nine from a right to the jaw, arose and fought back hard and then collapsed, and Referee Keally did not even go through the formality of counting, so that the bout goes into the record books as only a technical knockout victory.

Georgie Bretsch, of the North Side, 148½ pounds, national junior amateur welterweight champion, making his professional debut, weathered a stormy first round and then handed out a beating to Johnny Brown, of Lawrenceville, 146½, in the six-round opener.

It was the last show of the season in the Moose Temple and the crowd was not up to standard. Joe Keally refereed all of the bouts and the judges were Jim McLaughlin, of Braddock, and Jock Simco, of McKeesport.

TUG TO BOX ROSE

Tug Phillips meets Billy Rose at Cincinnati, Monday, June 10.

Italian Joe Gans, of New York, a veteran in the middleweight class, and Henry Firpo, of Louisville, have been matched for the 10-round main bout at the New Castle Jolly Bowl next Monday night.

The Twenty-seventh Ward A. C. will stage its next open-air amateur boxing show on its grounds, Monday, June 10.

Johnny Dunn, of New Kensington, and Jackie Rodgers, of the North Side, now under the management of John Deutsch, will box the main bout of the second show in the New Kensington bowl next Tuesday night. Young Nanci, of Swissvale, and Mickey Hart, of New Kensington, are in the semi-final.

PETTY TO FACE PHILS TODAY

deadlocked before the inning started the two tallies brought a gloomy outlook. A moment later O'Doul threw a wet blanket on the whole picture with a homer that sewed up the contest.

Claude Willoughby received credit for defeating the Pirates and the hard-working right-hander deserved the wreath despite his departure in the eighth as the Pirates became very dangerous. Lester Sweetland and Bob McGraw finishing, the latter standing out in the relief role.

After they had finished batting in the third the Phillies were out in front with a five-run lead. But the Oaklanders found themselves in the third when they tallied three times and by putting on another spurt in the fifth they tied up the game.

Eight Phillies went to the plate in the eighth and when the dust lifted the scoreboard showed four more enemy runs or enough to clinch the contest.

Manager Donie Bush left the field in the sixth inning under an order from Umpire Moran. The Pirate pilot was so strenuous in his protest of a force play on Dawson at second base that he was ejected. A few minutes later Moran observed that Donie was looking on from the bullpen, so he held up the contest again until Bush departed for good.

Boy Meets Veteran In Coast Golf Final

DELMONTE, Cal., June 1.—(AP.)—A 19-year old boy, who won paternal consent to his recent marriage and with it a seat on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange by trouncing his dad at golf, is a finalist for the 1929 California amateur championship along with a 40-year old veteran of the links.

Their 36-hole semi-final victories yesterday were the greatest upsets of the present tournament. Francis Stevens, Jr., of Los Angeles, defeated Fay Coleman, from the same city, 2 and 1, and Jack Neville, Monterey Peninsula Country Club, edged out John McHugh, defending champion from San Francisco, by the same score.

Suburban Handicap At Belmont Today

NEW YORK, June 1.—(INS.)—Racing enthusiasts flocked to Belmont Park today to witness the running of the historic Suburban Handicap, of $10,000 added.

Fourteen candidates were named overnight with Joseph E. Widener's Chance Shot, carrying top weight of 126 pounds, the early favorite. From the west came E. B. McLean's Toro to challenge the eastern cracks. Sortie, Petee-Wrack and the Wilson and Salmon entry of Sunfire and Display also were conceded a chance to lead the field home over the mile and a quarter route.

YANKEE LINEUP GETS GENERAL SHAKEUP

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN.
Associated Press.

Those gargantuan numbers on the backs of the Yankees will come in handy on the banks of the Harlem today. Some of the boys are going to be missing, and strange, if not altogether new, faces will appear in their stead. Habitues of the Ruppert ramparts may strain their eyes, but they won't find Bob Meusel, for instance, in the lineup.

Miller Huggins admitted this as his shattered forces retreated to home fortifications before dawn today under cover of the benevolent darkness. While confessing that Meusel's failure to start either of the last two games in Washington was due to no mistake in handing in the batting order, the midget manager surrendered other items of social interest.

KOENIG TAKEN OUT

Mr. Mark A. Koenig, he said, would give up third basing for a time in favor of Gene Robertson, the bench hand. Leo Durocher also would replace Mr. Lynford Lary at shortstop, Corporal Huggins continued. He disclosed all this juggling with the attitude of someone who intends to close his eyes and hope for the best, topping off his remarks with the assertion that he would bench even Ruth if the exigencies of the situation seemed to demand it.

The Yankee shake-up was the greatest since the seventh-place year of 1925. It included Bob Meusel for the first time since the big Californian joined the club in 1920.

The desire of Mr. Huggins to get a new deal for the Yankees no doubt was inspired in part by the pranks the Athletics have been playing. Fighting fire with fire in a sort of curtain-raiser to general outbreak of intersectional strife scheduled today, the American League leaders matched hard knocks with the Tigers at Shibe Park yesterday. Due to a ninth-inning ambush of Eddie Rommel, who nevertheless escaped with his life, the Bengals outshone the Macks on safe hits by 15 to 14, but Mr. McGillicuddy marched serenely from the premises with the decision in runs, 9 to 6.

INCREASE LEAD

This victory stretched the Athletic lead to five games over the Browns and to eight over the Yankees. Jimmy Foxx again won the hitting halo with his ninth home run, a triple and a single. Howard Ehmke started, but left the game after gaining a good lead in seven innings. Owen Carroll and Emil Yde offered no puzzle to Athletic batsmen. Other American League clubs were engaged yesterday in moving their forces to the scenes of today's battles.

Only two skirmishes took place along the National League front, but these nevertheless offered the Cardinals a chance to regain the lead, which they did. The Redbirds again repulsed Cincinnati without frills or ceremony, this time by 8 to 1, as the heavy guns of the Phillies fired a broadside which sent the Pirates craft to the bottom. The figures were 10 to 7.

The result of these battles sent the Cardinals into first place again, with a margin of one game over the Corsairs. The Cards cleaned up five straight against the unhappy henchmen of Hendricks, regaining almost all the ground they lost while dropping four out of five to Pittsburgh. Fred Frankhouse pitched for St. Louis yesterday.

The Philly victory over the Pirates was marked by Chuck Klein's twelfth home run and Frank O'Doul's tenth. Klein took the inter-league lead. Claude Willoughby was unable to finish, but won.

By defeating Fox Chapel, 12 to 4, yesterday, Oakmont, defending champion, took possession of first place in the Women's Golf Association League, Section I. Stanton Heights, tied with Oakmont in the matter of matches won, but trailing by three points in the point score, defeated Edewood yesterday 10 to 7.

In the other match of the day, Allegheny and the Pittsburgh Field Club fought it out to an 8-to-8 tie.

TEAMS PLAY TIE

ALICIA, Pa., June 1.—Alicia and California played to a 5-to-5 tie here last evening before a large crowd in a well-played and hard fought game. The visitors held the lead until the fifth inning when the locals scored three runs for a one-run lead. The game was featured by the pitching of Murphy, who whiffed 11 of the local batters.

Long's Sport Comment

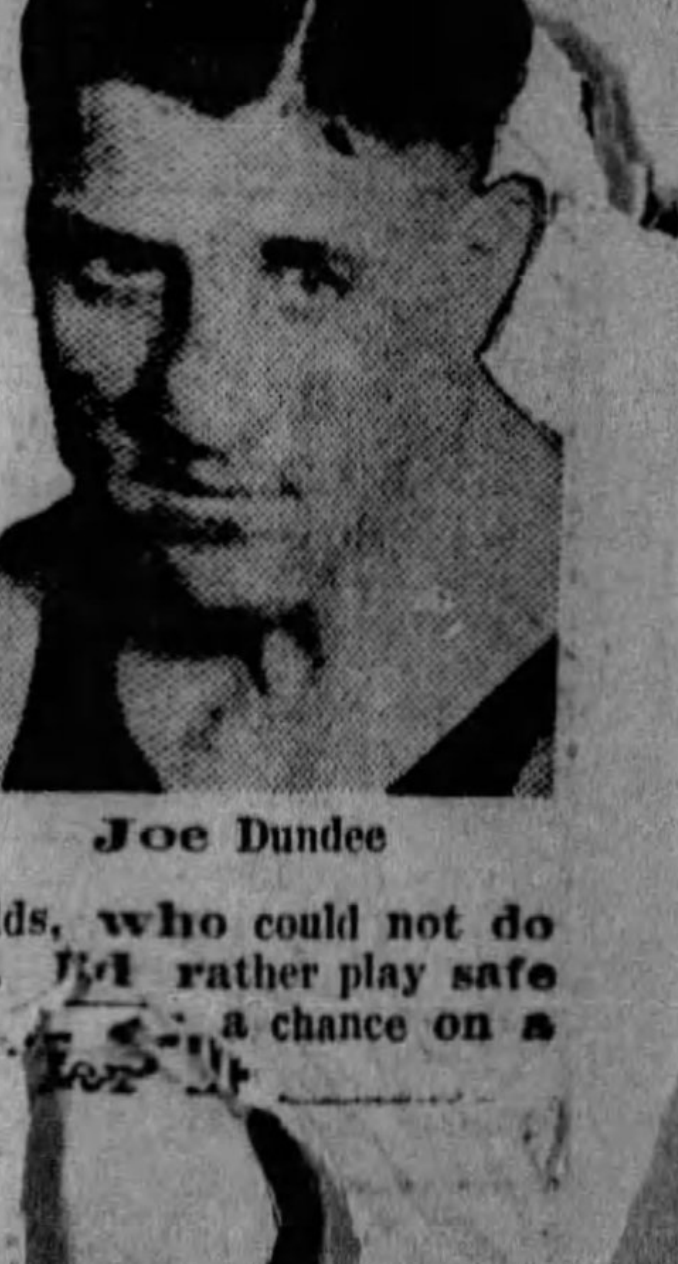
forget. The statement made in this column the other day, and also the statement made by Rabbit Maranville, that the muff of a fly ball charged against him recently in New York, was the first of his major league career, were incorrect.

"A McKeesport Fan," Eddie Rubenstein, of Weirton, W. Va., and Joe Fenton promptly recalled that Maranville had muffed a fly ball at Forbes Field. The records bear them out. On August 16, 1924, in the sixth inning of the final game in which the Pirates took four straight from the Giants, the Rabbit, playing second base for the Bucs, muffed a pop fly from the bat of George Kelly.

MAX WAXMAN, manager of Joe Dundee, welterweight champion, who was in Pittsburgh yesterday to close the match for the appearance of Dundee in the Meyers Brothers Bowl at North Braddock, on Monday night, June 17, explained why he had signed for his champion to defend his title in a 15-round bout with Jackie Fields at Detroit on July 11, instead of accepting larger offers from other parts of the country for a shorter fight. "We are to get a guarantee of $50,000 for 15 rounds in Detroit," said Waxman, "whereas we could have obtained $60,000 or more for only 10 rounds in other places, particularly on the coast.



Joe Dundee

"BUT here's the point: Dundee is a much better fighter at 15 rounds than he is at 10. He is a slow starter and might not get going properly until the latter part of a 10-round contest. With the limit extended to 15 rounds, however, he is certain to have plenty of time in which to get going at a terrific clip.

"I think he is unbeatable at that distance, and I have no doubt that he will def[illegible] Fields, who could not do much with even Joe's younger brothe[illegible] [illegible] rather play safe and see Joe retain his title in 15 ro[illegible] a chance on a shorter distance for the sake of an ex[illegible]

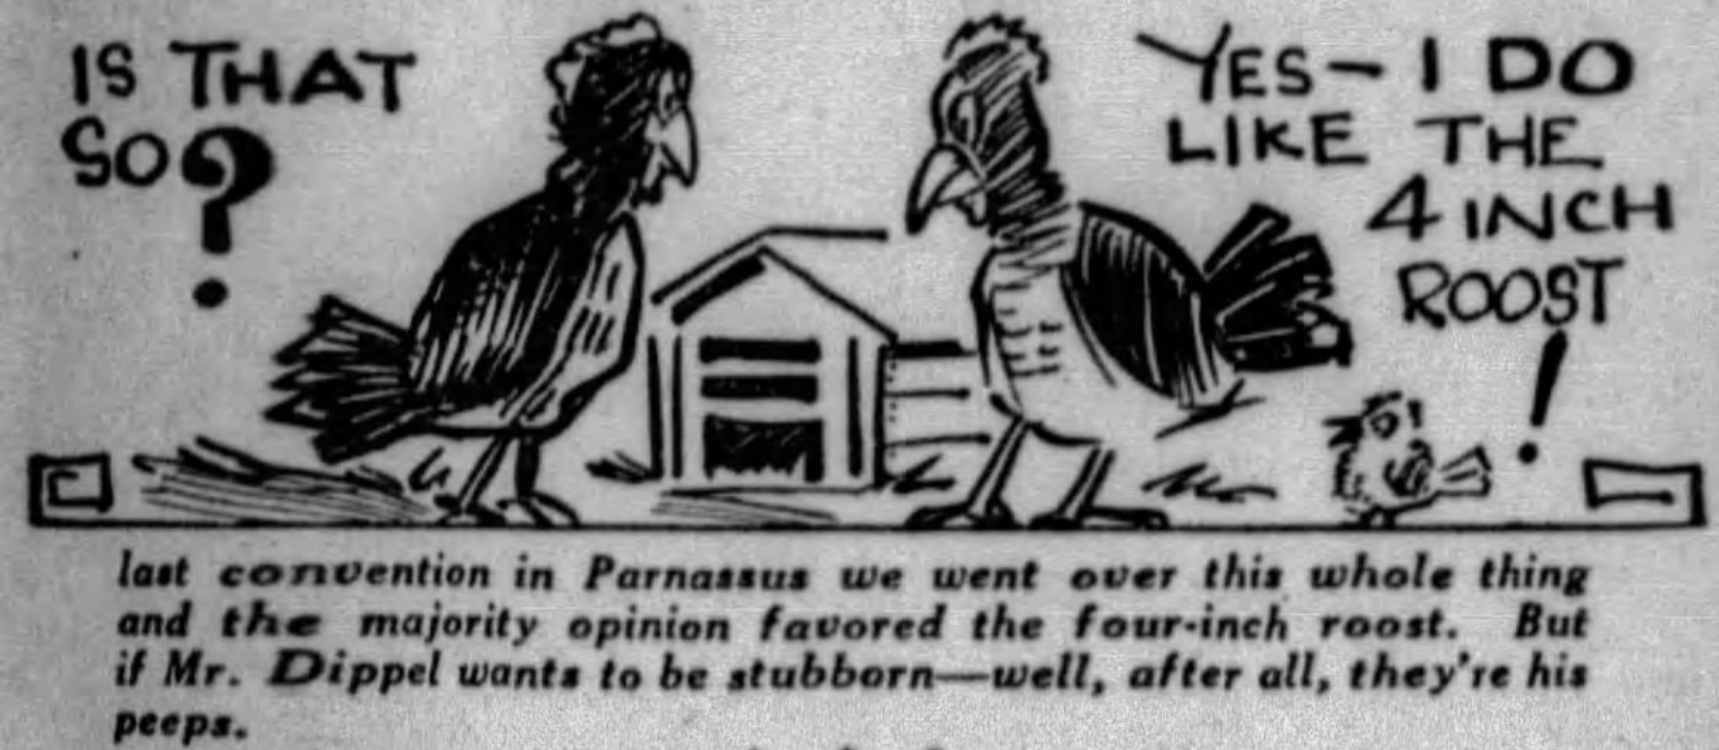
Harry Dippel reports he has turned gentleman-farmer. At his roadhouse on the Babcock boulvard, Harry has installed chickens, frogs and a lettuce patch so far. We had a long argument about the care of peeps. I contended you should leave the egg mash out for them until as late in the evening, but Harry says he gets better results by closing the egg mash hamper about 6 o'clock in the evening.

His roost, too, is a little too narrow. I hold out for the four-inch roost, advocated by most of us poultrymen, but Harry is sticking to the old-fashioned one-inch roost. At our last convention in Parnassus we went over this whole thing and the majority opinion favored the four-inch roost. But if Mr. Dippel wants to be stubborn—well, after all, they're his peeps.



IS THAT SO?
YES—I DO LIKE THE 4 INCH ROOST!

SPEAKING of chickens almost naturally suggests road houses in this vicinity. Most of them go in for chicken dinners. With the closing of winter quarters of some of the eating places the proprietors move to country scenes, where of a Sunday evening, dinners, with music, are served the tired housewife who always appreciates a meal she doesn't have to cook. Every man should give his wife a rest from the stove. Take her out some evening and order a nice luscious ham sandwich for her and please her by telling her how good your own fried chicken tastes. Men should be more attentive in these little matters.

John Gooch, a former Pittsburgh ball player, lost his 4-year-old boy the other day. A scratch developed into a fatal illness. Some of you may not know Gooch, who will be remembered here, long after his batting and fielding averages, are forgotten. After a world series game lost on a wild pitch, Gooch, the catcher in question, asked the reporters to say it was not the pitcher's fault, but his fault that the ball got away and the game was lost. He is one of the most intelligent men in baseball, able to see baseball with eyes of the critic and fan, as well as with the eyes of a participant.

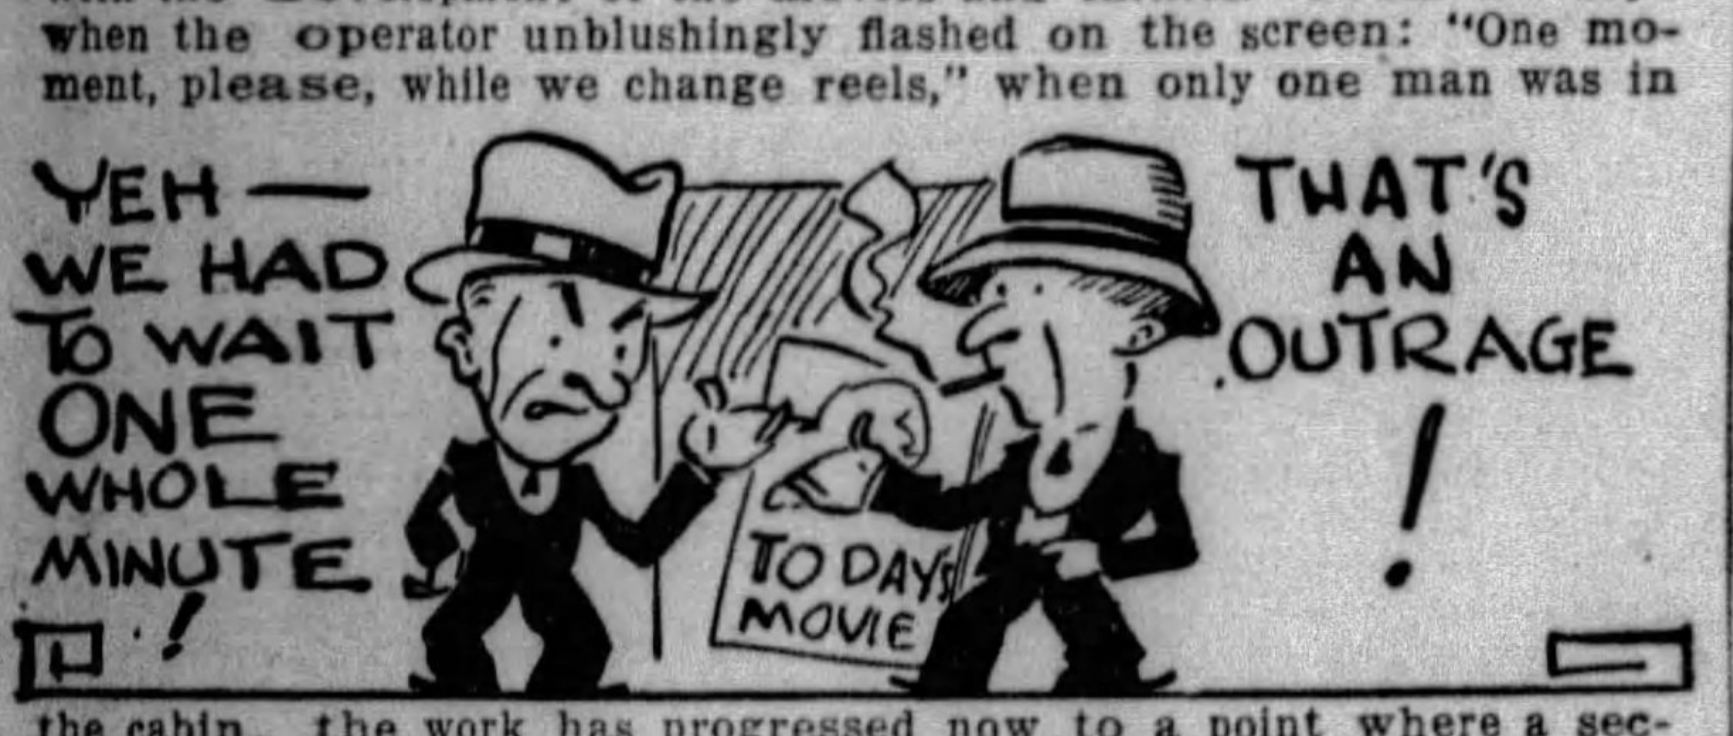
ROGER M'KELVEY, a local movie operator, was going over the other day the big changes that have come in that occupation with the development of the movies and talkies. From the days when the operator unblushingly flashed on the screen: "One moment, please, while we change reels," when only one man was in the cabin, the work has progressed now to a point where a sec-nd's delay is considered a major catastrophe and where from five six men are working on the machines.



YEH— WE HAD TO WAIT ONE WHOLE MINUTE!
THAT'S AN OUTRAGE!
TO DAYS MOVIE

It is not a bad occupation by any means. Operators don't ave to work the conventional eight-hour day observed by most orking men, and besides the pay is good. There are operators Pittsburgh getting around $90 a week.

Astigmatic is the eye of a football fan. He thinks of colleges and universities in terms of touchdowns. Here to a boy who recalled that Lafayette always beats Lehigh and that West Virginia University usually loses to Pitt in the annual football games the beauty and charm and scholastic requirements and achievements of Lehigh and West Virginia, learned on recent visits to these schools, certainly were pleasing revelations. At Lehigh the half-backs may be a little slow, but they are usually fine engineers in later life.

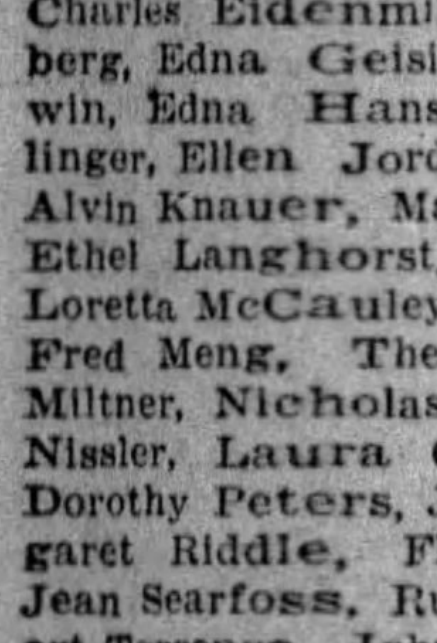
No Common Name Will Do For Our Nameless Hippo

Now, boys and girls, this nameless hippo at Highland Park Zoo is no ordinary hippo; so he must have an extraordinary name. A lot of boys and girls have sent in such names as Rose, Agnes, Marie, and the like; but such names will not do. They are too common. And there is another reason why this hippo never could be named Rose or Marie or Agnes. He is a boy hippo.



Since Zoo Superintendent Ernest Tretow, Director of Public Words Edward G. Lang and the Sun-Telegraph decided that the schoo children of Pittsburgh should pick the name of this 500-pound baby, almost every boy and irl in Pittsburgh has suggested a name.

However, the winning name has not been selected yet. re is $25 waiting for the boy or girl who sends it to the elegraph before 6 p. m., June contest is open to public, l and private school pupils, and an entry blank is printed on this page.

Circus Cinderella and Her Prince Chosen Today

The Circus Cinderella Editor of the Sun-Telegraph has been busy all night. He has been shining up the magic slipper so that it will be ready at 6 p. m. today to be placed upon the foot—so to speak—of the lucky girl who will be Cinderella when Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey's circus arrives Monday. And the fairy wand is ready to be waved over a Pittsburgh boy and make him Prince Charming.

For, exactly at 6, the Circus Cinderella contest will end and from the wishing letters written by hundreds of Allegheny county girls and boys will be selected the two best wishes. The girl and boy who make those wishes will be Cinderella and Prince Charming.

Girls and boys who haven't written their wishing letter yet must send or bring it to the Sun-Telegraph office before 6 o'clock. There is still some time left until then, but the fairy godmother will not wait beyond that hour.

You must write the one wish you would make if you knew some fairy godmother would make it come true.

Write it in not more than 200 words, on one side of plain paper.

Mail it or bring it to the Circus Cinderella Editor of the Sun-Telegraph, Gazette square, before 6 o'clock tonight.

Only boys and girls under 9 and not over 12 are eligible.

How to Wish

These are the rules for the selection of Pittsburgh Cinderella and Prince Charming:

Will Rogers Says

PITTSBURGH, June 1.

A sure certainty about our Memorial Days is, as fast as the ranks from one war thin out, the ranks from another take their place.

Prominent men run out of Decoration speeches, but the world never runs out of wars.

People talk peace, but men give their life's work to war.

It won't stop till there is as much brains and scientific study to aid peace as there is to promote war.

Yours, WILL.

P. S.—Say, what do you know about Owen Young getting these hyenas to agree? Remember, boys, he is a Democrat. Don't try to claim him, you Republicans.

Act Requiring Grain Sales Report Upheld

CHICAGO, June 1.—Federal Judge J. H. Wilkerson upheld the constitutionality of the grain futures act, requiring grain firms to report their daily trades to the Department of Agriculture. The judge denied Bartlett Frazier & Co. a temporary injunction to restrain the government from forcing them to report.

O'Fallon Decision's Benefits.

Reviewing the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the St. Louis and O'Fallon railroad valuation case, Clark Williams & Co. explain that the court has established a precedent which must eventually benefit not only railroad valuations, but the earning power of the roads as well. "The individual railroads are variously affected by the decision of the Supreme Court," says the firm. "Chesapeake and Ohio is the road which apparently benefits most by the decision of the court. Under the old method of valuation, this road has excess earnings subject to recapture of about $56,000,000. According to those in a position to know, the excess income on a basis of cost of production now will be approximately $43,000,000. Another road whose position has been materially improved by the decision of the court is Norfolk and Western. On the old basis of valuation, Norfolk and Western has an income subject to recapture of $50,000,000. On the new basis, earnings subject to recapture are reduced to $34,000,000. In the case of the New York Central, although the income subject to recapture under the old method of valuation was small, it would have been much larger with the inclusion of the Michigan Central and the Big '4.' Other railroads whose earnings would have been subject to substantial recapture under the old valuation methods were the Atchison, Atlantic Coast Line, St. Louis and San Francisco and Reading. The Chesapeake and Ohio, Norfolk and Western, New York Central and Santa Fe were benefited by the decision on account of their high earning power, while St. Louis and San Francisco was benefited because it received a very low valuation under the methods disapproved of by the Supreme Court."

Blair Merger Announced.

Formal announcement of the consolidation of Blair & Co., Inc., an international investment house, with the Bancamerica Corporation, securities affiliate of the Bank of America, has been made. The new institution will be known as the Bancamerica Blair Corporation. The combined Bank of America and the Bancamerica-Blair Corporation will have capital and surplus of more than $127,000,000 and total resources of more than $500,000,000. The consolidation unites the organization developed by Elisha Walker and associates in Blair & Co. and the International Business established by A. P. Giannini, who, as head of the trans-America corporation, directs an enterprise with resources of more than $1,000,000,000. This organization also will be closely affiliated with the new corporation. Mr. Walker, who has been president of Blair & Co., becomes president of Bancamerica-Blaim Corporation and will be chairman of the executive committee of the Bank of America. Dr. A. H. Giannini, brother of A. P. Giannini, will continue as chairman of the bank's board, while Edward C. Delafield will remain as its president.

German Ford Company.

The decision of the German Ford Company to abandon its plan of offering stock for public subscription was stated to have been based on a desire of the company to be associated with the German dye trust. Both have a common interest in agriculture, the dye trust selling nitrate to the farmers and the Ford Company supplying tractors. This was the explanation given by George Carlson, manager of the German Ford Company. During recent weeks the company increased its capital stock from 5,000,000 marks to 15,000,000 marks, of which 9,000,000 were taken over by the English parent company. The remaining 6,000,000 marks will be taken over by German business associates of Ford, the most prominent of which are the dye trust and a number of representatives of agriculture, the steel industry and banks.

Harvester's Truck Business.

Those who have been prominent in International Harvester at various times in the past were buyers of the stock during its latest sharp reaction. The selling was the result of discussions of the influence on the company's sales and earnings because of the sharp drop in wheat prices recently. Traders favoring the stock are calling attention to the progress made by the company in the manufacture of motor trucks. In the first three months of this year there was an increase of 18.3 per cent in motor truck registrations for all companies, whereas the gain by International Harvester in that period amounted to 52.8 per cent.

Interesting to Customers.

It is estimated the charge of 1 per cent on day loans to brokers authorized by the New York Clearing House banks will mean from $5,000,000 to $8,000,000 a year in interest. The average amount of day loans secured by brokers from New York banks runs from $500,000,000 to $800,000,000, depending on activity of the market. Although this charge effects only operations between brokers and their banks and becomes an added cost of brokers' operation, it is believed the charge will ultimately be passed along to the customer in the shape of higher interest on monthly balances.

Stocks Going or Coming Back? Ford Shocks Europe.

By B. C. FORBES

"D'YE NOTICE how they always come back?" asked an undismayed bull, referring to stocks.

"I've noticed how they have been going back," rejoined the bear.

The truth is, of course, that stocks have been going back more than they have been coming back: nearly all of them are decidedly lower than they were. Nor has it been possible this week to blame high call money rates. Bulls vowed that when call money should become reasonably easy, sky-rocketing would be resumed in the stock market. Well, six per cent call money didn't prevent the market from lurching badly at times this week.

For a long time stock quotations have been influenced by sentiment more than by concrete developments. The severe break in wheat was blamed for one sharp drop in stocks; yet stocks rallied when wheat later fell to the lowest in 14 years. Also, we have seen stocks rise on soaring call rates and decline while money rates were easing.

Plainly, the market is governed by speculative rather than by investment influences. Such a market always contains elements of danger.

"I DON'T go in for speculative stuff. When I buy stocks, I favor the best bank shares and top-notch insurance shares," declared one well-to-do man who prides himself on his conservatism.

Questions elicited that he holds bank and insurance stocks yielding as little as two to three per cent. He was at first shocked when I told him, "you are an out-and-out speculator—a gambler even." When he protested, I asked, "you certainly are not holding these stocks for their investment yield, but are gambling, aren't you, on the chance that they will rise in price or that you will get stock rights or some other kind of melon?" Very reluctantly he admitted that this was so.

At that, he didn't want to admit to himself that he was in any sense a speculator. But isn't he?

HENRY FORD may frighten European employers by introducing in his European plants revolutionary wage scales, just as he did at home 15 years ago. His request to the International Labor office attached to the League of Nations at Geneva for detailed information on living costs, taxation and wage scales has startled European capitalists. Henry is just as likely as not to announce wages far above the ordinary run even though he is not now, as he was years ago, practically free of close competition.

Should he thus act, the ultimate effect in Europe may be far-reaching beyond all present imagining. In the eyes of anyone accustomed to American wage scales and American standards of living European workers appear lamentably under-paid.

DR. H. WAHLE, personnel director of the Paraffine companies, with offices in San Francisco, Seattle, Portland, Oakland, Los Angeles and Kansas City, commenting on General Electric's new plan for paid vacations for workers, says:

"Beginning with 1923, vacations have been granted by our company to all daily payroll employes with full pay as follows: 1—upon the completion of three years' service, one week; 2—After four years, 10 days; 3—After five years, two weeks. The only provision stipulated is that the vacations be used for recreational activities.

"The results of our vacation policy and our very liberal group insurance program have been very gratifying to both employes and management. They have brought a superior quality of manufactured products, have eliminated wasteful costs resulting from accidents and the high cost of excessive labor turnover.

We wish to join in your sentiment, 'go thou and do likewise.'"

A PREDICTION: The interstate oil conference, called by President Hoover which meets at Colorado Springs on June 10, will lead, though not perhaps overnight, to very important beneficial results.

DOCTOR LINKED TO 2 SLAYINGS

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—(AP.)—Evidence connecting Dr. Frank P. Westlake, suspected as the slayer of Mrs. Laura B. Sutton, whose torso was identified here a few days ago, with still another death has reached Capt. William Bright, of the sheriff's office. In making this announcement last night, Bright would reveal no details.

Mrs. Sutton's torso was unearthed several weeks ago in this vicinity at a spot along the Los Angeles River. The head was found only a few days ago near the same place. Both parts of the body, investigators said, showed signs of having been severed by one skilled in surgery.

Capt. Bright did say that the new case was not that of Joseph Van Zandt, for whose drowning in a well Dr. Westlake was under suspicion 32 years ago in Perry, Ill.

The elderly doctor reiterated today his denial of guilt of Mrs. Sutton's death. Simultaneously, deputy sheriffs renewed their search for an unnamed man they asserted knew of the slaying "and can give us the adidtional information we want."

The case against Westlake and identification of the body have been based solely on circumstantial evidence. Officials say he was friendly with Mrs. Sutton and profited financially by her disappearance.

'Strongest Man' No Match for Little Fellow

NEW YORK, June 1.—(AP.) "The strongest man in the world," so billed at Coney Island, six feet tall, weight 225, bites railroad spikes and the like, has been beaten up by a little fellow.

Warren Lincoln Travis prosecuted William Pollock, 5 feet 2, weight 115, agd 60, for assault. They had a row over a realty deal, and William swung, undaunted.

A judge let him go.

DUEL THREATS TOLD BY GIRL

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 1.—(AP.)—Fort Snelling Army authorities today were investigating reports that Dr. William H. Hirst, of St. Paul, who shot and seriously wounded Lieut. Walter R. Miller Thursday night, had previously visited the Army post and threatened to kill the officer.

Miller was wounded in a gun fight which took place in front of the home of Miss Nan Ferguson, over whom Hirst and Miller fought. Hirst is said to have admitted shooting the lieutenant, but to have declared he did so in self-defense. Both men were armed with revolvers.

Hirst today faced a charge of assault with intent to kill, which carries a penalty of from one to ten years' imprisonment. C. D. O'Brien, Jr., Ramsey County attorney, stated that he would recommend that Hirst's bail, if it is requested by the District Court, be set at $10,000 or more, depending on Miller's condtion.

Miss Ferguson, held as a witness, but released after questioning, is said to have told police that Hirst had repeatedly threatened her and Miller.

Hirst, a naturopathic physician, is married and has two children. He is 53. Miller is 28 and Miss Ferguson is 26.

AIMEE'S JUDGE WINS AGAIN

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—(AP.)—The California Supreme Court has ruled that the State Bar Association's control over practising attorneys did not extend to the conduct of judges.

The decision was regarded as another victory for Superior Judge Carlos Hardy, of Los Angeles, who recently was acquitted at an impeachment hearing by the State Senate on charges of misdemeanors in office.

Judge Hardy admittedly received a check for $2,500 from Angelus Temple, Los Angeles, of which Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson is pastor. The judge maintained the check was a "love offering" and not a fee. The State Bar Association contended it was a fee for aiding Mrs. McPherson in her "kidnaping" case and that the judge was guilty of practising law while on the bench.

Hardy refused to answer questions put to him by an investigating committee of the Bar Association. He was cited in Superior Court for contempt of the association. The Superior Court held Hardy was not in contempt.

AIR TRESPASS CHARGED

MILLINGTON, N. J., June 1.—(INS.)—The first aerial "trespasser" on record was under arrest here today.

Lawrence Townsend, a parachute jumper of Newark, was taken into custody because he was indiscreet enough to float from a speeding airplane into a tree on the property of William E. Francks.

Two other men, who ran to Townsend's assistance, also were arrested.

Townsend will appear in court Monday and explain that parachutes, like the weather, are no respecters of property rights.

Damages of $13,500 Given in Auto Cases

WASHINGTON, Pa., June 1.—After being in progress for five days, the trial in which Mr. and Mrs. Charles Prezel, of Donora, brought action against A. D. Spencer, of Charleroi, to recover damages for injuries suffered in an automobile accident, was brought to a close, the jury finding for the plaintiffs in $5,000.

A verdict for $8,500 was returned in favor of Mrs. Annie B. Varley, of 68 Grove avenue, this city, against Walter Porter, driver of the machine which struck and fatally injured her husband, Thomas Varley, last December 7. Porter was acquitted of manslaughter, but was sentenced to jail for three months for failing to stop and render assistance.

'MISSION DAY' HELD BY SYNOD

WHEELING, W. Va., June 1.—(AP.)—"Mission day" at the convention here of the Pittsburgh Synod, United Lutheran Church, observance of which largely was occupied by routine matters, was concluded last night with a sermon on work in foreign fields by the Rev. A. M. Stump, New Castle, Pa.

Benevolent work in behalf of orphans, infirm and disabled persons was shown to have been greatly expanded during the past year and increased activity for the future was outlined.

Election of three synod officers was announced:

S. G. Dornblaser, Freeport, Pa., and J. F. Burmon, New Brighton, Pa., as directors of Thiel College and John Shaud, Pittsburgh, as a director of the board of home missions.

The Rev. George W. Critch, Meadville, Pa., former missionary to the Virgin Islands, was presented with a purse on the fifteeth anniversary of his ordination.

First Man Freed Under Wisconsin Dry Repealer

BELOIT, Wis., June 1.—(AP.)—Richard Everhart is the first man to profit by the repeal of the state dry law in Wisconsin.

Arrested by a chief of police in a village near here for having a pint of liquor on his hip, Everhart was brought before the Municipal Court judge.

"Plead guilty to what?" asked Judge Chester Christensen.

"Possession of an intoxicating beverage, with alcoholic content in excess of one-half of one per cent," said the officer.

"But that's not an offense against Wisconsin law," said the judge, pointing out that the state court has no jurisdiction.

Everhart returned home a free man.

Flurry in Arkansas Gas On Local Exchange

A flurry of activity in Arkansas Gas marked the short trading session on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today, with several thousand shares changing hands.

The stock bulged to a new high at 8½, but the advance attracted a little selling and there was a halt at that level. There was no explanation of the activity other than that recent movements of the stock are interpreted as indicating preparation for a public offering of the class "A," non-voting common, shortly. In yesterday's market the class "A" stock sold a slight fraction above the common.

Other fuels were dull, but held steady in today's session. Miscellaneous manufacturing issues were somewhat irregular. Allegheny Steel dropped back 4 points to 60 when an offering of the stock found a thin buying demand. The sale at 60 followed an opening transaction at 64, unchanged from Friday's final price.

Additional News and Views

The Copper Market.

The ninth week of inactivity in metals closes with prices no lower than they were a month ago. The metal producers as a group feel that the lack of demand that has existed recently marks a change in buying practice from far-forward commitments to buying for prompt shipment, Engineering and Mining Journal reports. Evidence accumulates that June will witness a relatively active demand for all of the major metals, though principally for early delivery.

Business in copper was slow, but somewhat better than in the preceding week. Three sellers continue to monopolize the business for electrolytic, all of their business being booked on the basis of 18 cents, delivered Connecticut. June requirements of consumers are not entirely provided for. Domestic manufacturers report that their orders from ultimate consumers are disappointing.

Accord Helps Smelters.

American Smelting will benefit from settlement of the German reparations question, according to Wall Street. This company has close relations with trade in Europe. At present the company is reported to be earning at the rate of $10 a share, and it is the confident belief in many quarters that the present $4 a share annual dividend rate will be increased later this year, either to a regular $5 a share basis or through the declaration of an extra of $1 a share.

Inestors Taking Atchison.

The advance in Atchison recently has been due to the persistent accumulation which has come into the stock, reducing the floating supply and making the issue more responsive that it has been in a long time when new buying has developed. Not only has Atchison been taken by important interests, but investment recommendations of a number of conservative firms have resulted in bringing a rather heavy odd-lot buying movement into the stock.

Remington-Rand.

The Remington-Rand, Inc., rereports for the year ended March 31, 1929, to be published soon, is expected to show net income of around $2,750,000 or $1 on 1,334,052 common shares after preferred dividends. This will compare with $2,850,732 or $1.17 on 1,333,460 shares the previous year. Although earnings show a slight drop for the full year, it is understood that over 80 per cent, or about $2,250,000, was realized in the last six months of its fiscal year. This contrasted with $1,429,827 in the like period last year.

WOMEN RADIUM VICTIMS LIVE

ORANGE, N. J., June 1.—(INS.)—The five women radium victims of New Jersey, who were awarded settlements of $10,000 and a provision for medical attention last June, have defied science and lived out a year, a survey made today revealed.

None of the five, who suffered radium poisoning while working in a watch factory, appears to be in immediate danger of death.

One, Miss Grace Fryer, of this city, goes to business every day. The others all remain close to their homes, but are living comfortably.

The chief argument of counsel for the victims in applying for damages was that they would not live a year.

Girl Pupils Spend More Than Boys, Survey Shows

SHARON, Pa., June 1.—The woman still pays. That's what Prof. Harvey Moore, of the Sharon High faculty, learned when he made a survey of the money spent in a month by members of his Problems of Democracy class.

During the month he found the average money spent by the 54 girls was $86.13 and the average for the 67 boys was $75.80. Seventeen girls spent more than $100, while five boys reached that mark. It is estimated that the average senior girl spends $775 and a boy $682 a year.

SOUTH PENN OIL OUTPUT GROWS

By GEOGE H. SNYDER.

THE South Penn Oil Company is completing new wells at the rate of one a day. Early this year the company started on a drilling campaign which contemplated the sinking of 600 wells over a large acreage in the Bradford district.

The company's production is now well over 8,000 barrels of oil a day. The extensive drilling has already had some effect on the total output, but the principal results will be shown in the future.

Not all of the new wells will be producers. The drilling is being undertaken in areas in which flooding has proved to be a successful means of compensating for lost gas pressure. The wells are being sunk on the "five spot" plan, by which water is pumped into four wells to force the oil out of a center producer.

SEVERAL weeks are often required to bring new wells of this type into actual production. It frequently happens that water will be pumped from the center well for a considerable length of time before any commercial yield of oil is obtained. The results of the drilling campaign will show more in production in the latter half of the year.

Even without any increase in its output South Penn could be expected to show record-breaking earnings. The company is now selling its production of Pennsylvania crude at $4.10 a barrel. This is $1.30 a barrel more than at the beginning of 1928.

EVERY increase of 25 cents a barrel means a gain of about $600,000 a year in the company's earnings on its own production alone. This is shown in addition to any profits on appreciation of its inventory of purchased crude oil. The company buys all of the crude run by the New York Transit, Southwest Pennsylvania and Eureka pipe lines. It resells this crude to refineries.

The present outlook for the price of Pennsylvania crude is very bright. A broader market is now being enjoyed than ever in the past. The high qualities of lubricants which can be obtained from Pennsylvania crude have given it a nation-wide market.

PENNSYLVANIA crude oil advanced during 1928 regardless of the unsettled condition of the general market for oil. Recently, however, advances took place in the prices of mid-continent crude and these are adding strength to the Pennsylvania market. A continuance of the present price levels are assured for some time to come and there is a possibility of higher prices being established.

Last year the South Penn Oil Company earned $3,911,165, which was equivalent to $4.74 a share on the 800,000 shares of capital stock outstanding at the end of the year. In 1927 net was $1,727,774 or $2.16 a share.

EARLY this year a stock dividend of 50 per cent was announced and the regular dividend rate of $2 a share annually was continued on the increased capitalization. This makes the present return equivalent to $3 a share on the old stock. Last year two extra dividends of 25 cents a share were declared.

The Penn-Mex Fuel Company, which is controlled by South Penn Oil, has brought in a new producer in Mexico. This is its San Isidro well No. 16. The output has not been estimated, but it is known to be substantial.

HOT WEATHER AIDS TRADE

NEW YORK, June 1.—(AP.)—Bradstreet's today says: There is rather more irregularity in trade and, to perhaps a lesser extent, in industry. The advent of real summer weather after a cool and wet spring has given a much-needed stimulus to retail trade in wearing apparel of all kinds, with vacation supplies coming in for mention, because of the weather and the holiday this week. On the other hand, wholesale and jobbing trade seems to reflect an increase in conservatism as regards future buying, moving elements in this direction being the effect of high money on certain lines of trade and the recent decline in farm-product prices, which latter tends to create uncertainty as to the buying ability of parts of the rural community. In industry, also, there are more signs of irregularity, in that, while the metal-producing and consuming trades, led by iron and steel, continue, as a rule, at a high rate of speed, the building and allied trades show more effects of the high rates for loans, and leading textiles and some few other lines, note quieting down of various degrees. Taken as a whole, future trade is about on a par with a year ago, retail distribution is still better than last year, and industry, factory lines particularly, though quieter than of late, are still in the lead in the matter of gain over the like period a year ago.

Contractors will be required to leave a deposit of $2 for each set of plans and specifications, which money will be refunded upon the return of same to the City Architect's office.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a bond in the sum of 50 per cent of the estimated cost of the work, with two sureties, freeholders in Allegheny County, executed before the City Clerk, or the bond of such surety company which has complied with the City Ordinance with reference to furnishing bonds for contracts. Bidders' attention is directed to a provision of the contract requiring a separate bond indemnifying labor and material liability which shall be given by the successful bidder when contract is executed.

The Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Health reserve the right to reject any or all bids submitted or accept any proposal if they deem it to be for the interest of the City of Pittsburgh.

BUGS BAER Says

A DAY IN A STAMP LAUNDRY

"Bugs" Baer

AFTER looking over the walloping budgets and balloon referendums for 1929 we realize that being a government is a very unhealthy occupation.

Even though President Hoover has reduced his monthly gas bills by selling the Mayflower, we still have big milk bills for a couple of Zeppelins.

Queer thing about otherwise stationary citizens is the motto that whatever you do to a government is perfectly legal.

In peace, we claim rebates. In war, we claim exemption. We skin it in our income blanks and stuff it with demands for pensions. We sell paper shoes for soldiers and cheer when the boys march to wear them out in two steps.

When we are in the bunkers of depression we blame it on the government. When we are sailing along the master-lines and contours of prosperity we forget who is Vice President.

When there is snow on the ground we know it is the fault of the administration. But when the violets are twittering in the dells we say ain't nature grand?

There are more ways of skinning a government than there are of teasing a monkey.

The newest method is washing stamps.

When a man washes a stamp he ain't trying to remove the glue.

What he is trying is to erase the cancellation marks, thereby making a new car out of a used job.

Since the parcel post has infested this country with sudden deliveries of large areas of merchandise, stamps have been printed in large denominations.

Washing a two-cent stamp would not pay for the soap. But you can afford to send a ten-dollar stamp to a Turkish bath for a shave, shampoo and massage and still make seven dollars on the transaction.

Each year, old Jonathan Government loses one million dollars because the patriotic jippers have inaugurated a clean stamp week.

The boys have turned petty larceny into big business.

The stamp-scrubber first takes the battle citations off the valuable plaster and then sells it again for its face value.

We had always thought that ice cream cones and stamps were two articles that could only be used once.

This information strikes us in a third-class but vital postoffice.

The government is making appropriated efforts to track the stamp-washers to their laundry.

But it is a difficult task as the only clues are soap bubbles which evaporate in a most annoying and personal manner.

THE ONLY TIME THEY EVER GIVE ME AN INVITATION IS WHEN THREE OR FOUR CLUB TOGETHER AND INVITE ME INTO AN ALLEY OR VACANT LOT TO GET A TRIMMING. AND.....
I'M NOT WORRIED ABOUT MY FOLKS. IF WE DON'T SEND THEM AN INVITATION THEY'LL STAY AWAY. BUT WHOEVER HEARD OF THOSE BUNGLES STAYING AWAY FROM ANYTHING SIMPLY BECAUSE THEY KNEW THEY WEREN'T WELCOME. HA! TRY AND IMAGINE THAT.

Days of Commencement Turn Out Economic Grist

Commencement days are at hand and we have visions of the entrancing "sweet girl graduate," and also the boy, described less poetically—sometimes even humorously, as being offered a job humping a hod when he had expected to step into the presidency of a corporation. Strangely, if he takes the job of shouldering the hod, he quite often does become president of a building corporation. Just last week, in Pittsburgh, a comparatively young man was elected president of a corporation, the service of which he entered as time-keeper following his graduation from Yale.

Commencement days are at hand. Local high schools are distributing diplomas to successful students, many of whom will enter the colleges and universities in the fall. In a few days the higher institutions of learning in Pittsburgh also will be giving a diploma to each of their graduates, who will go out into the world of competition for jobs.

And they should not forget that it is a competition. Dr. Harold F. Clark, professor of education of Teachers' College, Columbia University, in a current magazine article, gives an analysis of a situation which is presented as "exploding a myth that a college education increases your income."

Yet, Dr. Clark is not pessimistic about education. He merely says that economic laws work with the graduate as with others. "In the past," he states, "educated people received higher wages, not because they were educated, but because they were scarce." Not so well reasoned. They were well paid because educated persons were in demand, else they would not have benefited because they were scarce.

Hence, with higher education more general, the graduate, to make himself "scarce" must become still more highly educated than the general run of graduates. This he does in his training that follows his school work.

Our institutions of learning turn out persons educated only as they have applied themselves to their studies. The alumnae and alumni are not complete products any more than the pupil who has finished the grade school. The finishing process is something that is in their own hands. They must work their way from a beginning that may be only the job of a time-keeper or of a laborer. Yet it is a beginning, which is a synonym for "commencement."

Many Movers Lose Vote On Charter; Rally Needed

It is revealed that many persons will be unable to vote on the Metropolitan charter June 25 as a result of having moved to new residences May 1, since the law requires 60 days' residence in a district to establish voting right. Those who moved not later than April 25 may have their registration changed.

This is an important matter and it is hoped that all who may make themselves eligible to vote will do so. It also is a reminder to all friends of the charter whose voting status has not changed that their support will be needed more than ever, since it appears certain that several thousands of persons in Pittsburgh alone have lost their votes on this issue through having changed residences.

It is an important matter. Get out the vote!

Young 'Ladies' That Swear

They Lose Command of English.

"I knew she was a lady by her oaths."

That identification of "ladies" may be revived. Young ladies of this cigaret-smoking, cocktail-drinking age are becoming more and more addicted to profanity, as teachers in fashionable girls' schools can testify. And the line of young female profanity is fairly complete.

Fathers and mothers that object are considered old-fashioned, or "narrow-minded," to use the current expression.

The young ladies who imagine that profanity proves emancipation from old-fashioned rules will realize, unless they are of the moron type, that profanity is harmful because it interferes with forceful use of the English language.

Nothing is weaker than profanity, no words mean less than profane words, none betray more clearly the feeble mind. Any fool can be profane. It takes intelligence to express thought forcefully in decent English.

Tell that to the young lady.

Britain Objects

That Suits Us.

The London Daily Chronicle says that naval limitations proposed by Hugh Gibson, the American "observer," are "arousing violent opposition from the British Navy," and menaces Britain's naval power.

The American people would be glad if Mr. Hoover would say to Britain concerning America's armament plans what he would say to any foreign engineer concerning Mr. Hoover's own plans for an engineering project.

If he were in charge of an engineering job, as he is in charge of the United States government, and if a foreign engineer tried to tell him what to do, Mr. Hoover would reply, "You attend to your job and I'll attend to mine. I UNDERSTAND IT."

This country should say to Great Britain exactly what Great Britain would have said to us about naval armaments before the war, when British money was plentiful, namely, "I intend to rule the ocean and the air. I can afford it, and THAT'S MY PLAN. You do what YOU can afford, and don't bother me."

Tales That Are Told

Brutal

OCCUPYING a seat in a Pullman recently was a pair of unmistakable newlyweds. Everything was honey and rose petals till they were nearing the city. Then a cloud seemed to overcast the bride's features. The groom noticed the change.

"What's wrong, Honeykins?" inquired he, anxiously. "Don't you feel well?"

"Oh-h-h! It isn't that!" And great sobs began to shake her frail form, as she brought forth a handkerchief about the size of a postage stamp with which to mop up her tears.

"What is it, Sweetie? What can be the matter?" said he, tremendously perturbed. "Why are you sobbing so?"

"Be-be-be-cause you are growing cold toward me. You do not love me any more!"

"Oh, my angel dearie! What could make you say that?"

"W-w-well, I saw you looking out of the window twice!"

Easy Range

AN immigrant was making his way across the wild west in search of a man to whom he had a letter of introduction. He came across a cowboy sitting by the side of a track, and asked him if he could tell him where to find the man for whom he was looking.

"Does Big Joe live near here?" said the immigrant.

"Nope," said the cowboy.

"Well, where can I find his neighbor, Long Sam?"

"I'm Long Sam," said the cowboy.

"But they told me," said the immigrant, "that Big Joe lived within gunshot of you."

"That's right," said the cowboy, "he did."

What He Wanted

MOSE and Sam had just cut a nice juicy watermelon. Being very courteous, Mose held both slices out to his companion, but to his surprise, Sam ignored good manners and chose the largest slice.

"Where is yo mannahs?" Mose asked indignantly. "Why, if you had offered dem to me I would have took de smallest piece."

"Whatcha yellin' about?" returned Sam with a satisfied air. "Dat's what you got, ain't it?"

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

THERE was a powerful executive that knows efficiency, and he was out on a little week-end at the beach with one of his subordinates. He was putting pep into the poor old boy and giving him a thrill instead of a raise.

The big executive got out under a roller, and the office man swam out and dragged him to the shore.

"Jones," said the big executive when he got his breath, "you done a wonderful thing! You saved my life! I'm going to wire it to the office so's they can put a piece about it in the house organ this month."

"Oh, don't Boss," says the man. "You've no idea how they'll kill me at the office if they ever hear saved your life!"

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

MRS. DAN FLAGG is all smoked up at human nature.

It seems that in an impulsive moment she told Dan certain details of her girlhood days—which details Dan has cast up at her periodically ever since. Wherefore she indignantly requests that I write my meanest article on the following theme—CAN YOU BE FRANK WITH YOUR HUSBAND?

I comply with enthusiasm.

Can you be frank with your husband?

No, of course, you can't!

But that's no particular indictment of males.

You can't be perfectly frank with anyone—male or female—without incurring the possibility of a lot of unpleasant consequences.

And why should you expect immunity from consequences if you're frank?

Why demand superhuman honor and delicacy in the treatment of YOUR personal affairs?

Are YOU capable of superhuman honor and delicacy?

Can YOU forbear sitting in judgment or spilling beans?

No, of course, you aren't, and can't.

You're fallible.

They're fallible.

So that's that.

And, even if they were infallible, why should you expect other people to bear the burden of your disagreeable confession?

Haven't they enough unpleasant memories to tote around, without adding yours?

Confidences are supposed to be a compliment to the confidee. As a matter of fact, they're anything BUT! It's no treat to have someone thrust a lot of intimate personal data upon you. Dynamite is actually safer. For if you have the sense God gave a gooseberry you know they'll be maddern hops next day.

Mad at themselves?

No, indeedy!

Mad at YOU, because you've got something on them!

Nor are confidences inspired by deep trust and affection, as is sentimentally supposed. Nine-tenths of them are merely inspired by a love of gab, and the gabber has no one but himself to blame if his wagging tongue brings him to grief.

CONSUME YOUR OWN SMOKE!

WAS JOSHUA THERE?

By Garrett P. Serviss

"I'M getting dizzy," said the Earth, "and I'm going to stop turning around."

"Oh, don't do that!" cried the Ocean and the Atmosphere. "Think what will become of us."

"No matter about you. I stop," said the Earth in a relentless tone.

"But think of all the people! And the big buildings!"

"Hang the people and the big buildings. They are a burden to me. I'm overwhelmed with their bones."

"But for mercy's sake we can't hang on if you stop."

"What of that. I've got this hunch, and I am going to do it."

"Then if you must stop, stop slowly. Oh please!"

"No!" thundered the Earth, "I'll stop suddenly in the millionth part of a second. I am going to stop RIGHT NOW!"

There was a grinding, screeching, screaming, racking and roaring noise, that filled the Earth and the sky, and a shock that made the welkin tremble, while all the universe appeared to be collapsing.

The air tore away eastward in rags and tatters of the lacerated atmosphere, blowing off mountain pinnacles like trifling chimneys, ripping up great forests by the roots, and sweeping giant trees through the sky as if they were bits of straw from a grain field. A huge iron gasometer rolled, leaped and thundered over broken houses and wrecked streets until it smashed itself against a granite precipice. The whole dome of the sky was filled with flying wildly gyrating objects, of every kind and size, among which were mingled human beings and animals.

But the ocean! Along the Atlantic Coast the waters fled eastward and disclosed the continental shelf and the dark verge of the awful abyss beyond it. On the pacific side the ocean leaped upon the land, drowned the cities, plains and valleys, and assailed the flanks of the mountains with climbing billows and spouts of foam that dared the peaks. The British Isles, Europe, Africa, were swept over. The Mediterranean burst into the deserts of Arabia, the Sahara became a sparkling blue sea.

Inertia, the most resistless giant of the material cosmos was unchained, and raged unchecked. All the roaring winds were free, and "all the mighty floods were out."

And what of the groaning, chreaking, rending earth itself? The inertial Goliath held that, too, in his crushing grasp. The stress and strain of the suddenly arrested force of rotation was felt to the quivering center. Strata cracked, yielded, crumbled. Earthquakes darted like neuralgic spasms through all the veins of the planet. On the surface, mountains tumbled under the recoil. Gushes of fire issued from the strained interior. Floods of lava poured out as in the days of the planet's plutonic youth.

"Oh, what have I done?" cried the tortured Earth. "What drunken folly made me stop? Why did I not know the fearful force that was sleeping in my smooth rotation? Why did not nature teach me to yield it up harmlessly, slowly developing its matchless power for the betterment of those intellectual beings who dwelt with me so long, but whom I have now recklessly destroyed? Henceforth I am but a slag, a wreck, [illegible] my long-lost child, the Moon."

Bible Passages

Christ's Kingdom

(Isaiah 2; 2-17)

AND it shall come to pass in the last days, that the mountain of the Lord's house shall be established in the top of the mountains, and shall be exalted above the hills; and all nations shall flow unto it.

And many people shall go and say, Come ye, and let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, to the house of the God of Jacob; and he will teach us his ways, and we will walk in his paths: for out of Zion shall go forth the law, and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem.

And he shall judge among the nations, and shall rebuke many people: and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruninghooks: nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more.

O house of Jacob, come ye, and let us walk in the light of the Lord.

Therefore thou hast forsaken thy people the house of Jacob, because they be replenished from the east, and are soothsayers like the Philistines, and they please themselves in the children of strangers.

Their land also is full of silver and gold, neither is there any end of their treasures; their land is also full of horses, neither is there any end of their chariots:

Their land also is full of idols; they worship the work of their own hands, that which their own fingers have made:

And the mean man boweth down, and the great man humbleth himself: therefore forgive them not.

Enter into the rock, and hide thee in the dust, for fear of the Lord, and for the glory of his majesty.

The lofty looks of man shall be humbled, and the haughtiness of men shall be bowed down, and the Lord alone shall be exalted in that day.

For the day of the Lord of hosts shall be upon every one that is proud and lofty, and upon every one that is lifted up; and he shall be brought low:

And upon all the cedars of Lebanon, that are high and lifted up, and upon all the oaks of Bashan,

And upon all the high mountains, and upon all the hills that are lifted up,

And upon every high tower, and upon every fenced wall,

And upon all the ships of Tarshish, and upon all pleasant pictures.

And the loftiness of man shall be bowed down, and the haughtiness of men shall be made low: and the Lord alone shall be exalted in that day.

Isn't It So?

The Two Lucky Charms

By Herbert Kaufman

CAREFUL investigation discloses as many toothaches, punctured tires and bankruptcies on Monday as on Friday. The thirteenth of the month is no more a calendar black sheep than the thirty-first.

The man who "believes in signs" seldom decorates one with his name. The only risk in passing under a ladder lies in the chance that it may slip and fall upon you.

Augurs, seers, soothsayers, sybils, oracles and goose-bone sages have been forced out of business by microscopes, dynamos, test tubes, wireless waves and seismographs.

Superstition has been superseded by science and sagacity. Common sense long since kicked the "seventh sense" off the map.

Fortune tellers aren't fortune sellers. They derive their incomes through understanding of fools, not futures.

Any human in this electric-lighted, prophylactic age who seriously regards the mumbo-jumbo of a card-reading or crystal-gazing charlatan is an auk, not a Twentieth Centurion.

There's no possible way to secure advance information from destiny. Fate never shares her secrets with confidential friends. Tomorrow has been and will always remain an insoluble mystery.

If you believe in anything but earnest effort—if you rely upon any power beyond your own—step to one side—you're an anachronistic misfit.

The world has outgrown your type. We've ceased cringing and trembling before the unknown.

We've mastered the primeval instinct which bred dread of all things intangible and suspected hidden menaces in all inexplicable operations of normal phenomena.

Nowadays, we interpret the voice of thunder not as a rumble of wrath, but as a promise of beneficent rain. We hear in the roar of the waterfall a message of utility. We behold in the plague not punishment from an outraged deity, but the protest of outraged Nature.

We have trailed the banshee to a creaking tree limb, and traced the nightmare to a conspiracy of lobster, cucumbers and whipped cream.

We know at last that there is no ghost but conscience, and no magic spell except determination.

Real civilization did not start until we ceased to confide in fairies and demons and began to pin faith on ourselves.

We no longer exorcise the devil with an incantation; but with ventilation and sanitation and education.

We do not heal the halt and the lame and the blind with relics and witches' brews, but with surgeons' knives and plaster-casts and sticks of caustic.

We've torn the lying mask from the face of Superstition, only to find Ignorance under an alias—Cowardice ashamed to acknowledge itself.

We have not only left aboriginal tails behind us, but old wives' tales to boot. The two belong to the same epoch of our development.

The more we think, the less we shrink from the incomprehensible.

We've simplified life into a primal equation—we succeed when we're right, and we fail when we're wrong.

Wit and will are the only proven lucky charms.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, June 1.—There is not much left of old Tin Pan alley save memories. In other days ancient brownstone fronts west of Broadway in the Forties were sliced up into cubicle rooms and hundreds of pianos rattled accompaniment to the lyrical odes to love, sky and moon.

Many florid types with high-belted coats and bamboo canes came out of Tin Pan alley to be tagged by Broadway as celebrities. The district spawned such popular idols as Irving Berlin, Earl Carroll and the redoubtable George M. Cohan as among those who made the proverbial cleanup.

Song writers were exuberantly odd products of the feverish Broadway whirl. If one of their tinny tintinabulations registered a success, their creators slammed down piano lids, bought sporty roadsters and became White Way playboys until the rent was overdue.

But all that is ended. The song writer lives by rote — another sprocket in the mechanistic age. In Hollywood, he punches the clock since The Alley "went talkie." The important money is in "theme songs." In this way a song is sung simultaneously in 12,000 or more theaters.

Song sheet sales are thus ballooned to a new peak. The "Sonny Boy" tune became so highly popularized by Al Jolson in "The Singing Fool" that the music publishers were two months behind in orders. Song lyricists such as Buddy De Sylva and scores of others spend most of their time on the coast.

The Warner Brothers movie outfit took over Witmark & Sons, a leading music publishing house, four months ago. Other cinema concerns are in the market to bag important publishing firms as a very useful and profitable by-product of the talkie business.

Thus the Tin Pan alley boys are no longer the happy-go-lucky swashbucklers of the Big Canyon. They are under stiff contracts on a salary and percentage basis and must be at the office at 9 o'clock and remain until 5 with an hour out for lunch. And all they have lost is the customary headache.

The most bewildered policeman in town got that way as the result of a naive gentleman leaving a midtown hotel asking to be directed to a place called Jimmy's. There are only about 500 Jimmys in a mile radius of Times Square.

A new hoop-de-doo in the ladies' rooms of big hotels during the crowded dinner hour. An exquisitely groomed girl swoons and is revived in hysteria. Everygody seeks to comfort her and in the excitement a confederate gathers up vanity bags and often an expensive wrap or so and skeedaddles.

Hoboken in the past few months received hundred of columns of free advertising. Yet the "better element" is disturbed. An organization is being effected to purge it of its aura of Bohemian Bacchanalia. "Hoboken does not wish to become another Greenwich Village," says a sponsor. So that-a is that-a!

The story is told of one of those overbearing young four-flushers whose militancy is manifested in brow-beating waiters. He was in his bath when an aged servitor brought his breakfast. He called out from the bathroom to a friend who awaited him: "Give the old pelican a quarter and tell him to take it on the lam." As the venerable waiter departed, he took a faded picture from his pocket and said: "Give this to the young gentleman and tell him he may recognize it." The picture was that of the waiter. And the youth, looking at it, recognized his father.

A press agent plotting a surprise is asking a "select group of newspapermen" to be on hand one midnight shortly to see the artistry of "the most dynamic figure on the stage today." And if it turns out to be one of those high-jumping he's-crazy-for-me singers, the fatal shot will be fired by the hollow-eyed wreck in seat D-4.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

WHAT would your thoughts expressed in words be in case you were in a delirium brought on by disease or a certain kind of anesthetic.

Probably you would babble the things most often in your mind.

Shorn of the veneer you are able to maintain successfully when you are in command of your senses, what would you mumble when you lost control?

Nurses learn many secrets from patients attended during severe illness.

Relatives are often shocked by the statements made by those unable to control their tongues.

You know what you think about it.

If for no other reason than that you should guard against what a fevered night might cause you to say, you should try to keep your mind filled with good thoughts.

Of course, this is the least important reason for keeping wholesome thoughts.

For it is demoralizing to entertain bad or unclean thoughts.

As a man is, so he thinks, and if you fill your mind with helpful and elevating reflections, you have nothing to fear and much to gain.

There are so many fine, elevating things to think about, it is surprising that anyone should waste time in other lines of thought.

And keeping your mind right brings a high degree of happiness and self-respect.
